Argentina Preparing for War

ORDERS ARE GIVEN FOR MOBILIZATION OF ARMY AND NAVY

Cabinet and Congress Not Satisfied With Germany's Recent Notes—No Confidence Felt in Berlin's Words.

GERMANS HAVE CAUSED GREAT RAILWAY STRIKE

Traffic Paralyzed on Eleven Roads — If Argentina Enters the War, Has Troops Ready to Send to Europe.

Buenos Aires, September 24.—Mobilization of the Argentine navy has been ordered at a rendezvous thirty-seven kilometers from Buenos Aires.

There is also unusual military activity in the republic. Although this is ostensibly due to the general strike, a high official said today that the general staff has its eyes open to "other necessities."

The question of a rupture with Germany is still being widely discussed by members of the Argentine congress and the public in general, nothwithstanding Germany's recent notes.

No Confidence in Berlin.

Many of the deputies say that they no longer have confidence in Berlin because if the government disapproved of Von Luxburg's dispatches it should have taken action against the minister and not waited until after Secretary Lansing's revelations to express its disapproval.

The cabinet and deputies do not yet consider the question closed, and there is widespread disapproval by the newspapers and deputies of the personal guarantee sent by Dr. Luis B. Molina, the Argentine minister at Berlin, that Germany would keep its promises.

It is learned that the general staff, since the beginning of the Toro incident, has had the matter of mobilization under consideration and that war plans have been completed and campaign commanders appointed. If there is a declaration of war, it is declared, Argentina will send two divisions to Europe and will not be content with a passive attitude. The men and equipment are ready for almost immediate embarkation, if the necessity arises, and the allies in that event would be asked to furnish artillery.

Strike on Eleven Railroads.

A general strike on eleven Argentinian railroads began at midnight last night. Traffic has been absolutely paralyzed on all railroads except some small government lines in the interior. Not a wheel is moving on any railroad entering Buenos Aires.

Naval vessels are carrying the mails to river towns. Other places are without mail service.

German influences are believed to be behind the railroad strike. Throughout the day, it has been ascertained by the authorities, strike agitators were offering strikers orders on a German electric company with which to pay grocer and butcher bills.

German Crown Prince Invites Opera Singers To His Headquarters

London, September 24.—Bavarian socialist newspapers are quoted by The Exchange Telegraph Amsterdam correspondent as protesting against the action of the German Crown Prince in inviting a number of singers from the Munich opera to proceed to his headquarters by a special train.

The newspaper critics characterize this proceeding as scandalous at a time when the railway congestion is so great that even foodstuffs cannot be transported. wo of the newspapers, it is added, have been suppressed for publishing the attacks upon the Crown Prince.

AVIATION LEADERS HERE.

English Officer Lectures to Students at Tech.

Major Campbell, of the English army, and Major Cousins, of the United States army, assistant director of all the army flying schools in the United States, arrived at Tech aviation school from Washington yesterday.

Last night Major Campbell, who has seen active service with England's air fleet at the front, lectured to the students of the aviation school, telling them of conditions encountered by the flier in actual warfare, how they have been met, and many other things of interest and value to the prospective birdmen.

DEPARTMENT HEAD OF THE SOUTHEAST IN ATLANTA TODAY

General W. P. Duvall Will Inspect Supply Depot at Camp Gordon and Base Hospital at Ft. McPherson.

WILL BE HONOR GUEST AT LUNCHEON TUESDAY.

Accepts Invitation Tendered by Chamber of Commerce—Civic Officials and Prominent Citizens Will Attend.

With a total of approximately 20,000 men in camp, of whom some 12,000 are of the 40-per-cent quota contingent now coming in, Camp Gordon will receive its first official visit from Major General William P. Duvall, commander of the department of the southeast, today.

With the exception of official inspection of the supply depot at Camp Gordon, and the inspection of the base hospital at Fort McPherson, General Duvall's trip to Atlanta will be in the nature of a visit only. He proposes to make no inspections except these two, though he will look over Camp Gordon, the German prison camp at Fort McPherson and such other military establishments here as time permits.

General Duvall arrived in a special car over the Central of Georgia railroad last night from Macon, where he visited Camp Wheeler Monday. He is accompanied by his personal aide, Captain Richard H. Jordan, and Colonel Hugh J. Gallagher, quartermaster general of the department of the southeast. The car was parked at the Terminal station and the general and his party spent the night in the car.

Breakfast in His Car.

Major General Eben Swift, commanding the 82d division, N. A., at Camp Gordon, will take breakfast with General Duvall in his car this morning at 8 o'clock.

General Duvall, his party and General Swift will then pay their respects to Governor Hugh M. Dorsey, at his office at the capitol, and from there will proceed to Camp Gordon.

After the visit to Camp Gordon, General Duvall and his party will be the guests of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon. After the luncheon General Duvall will visit Fort McPherson, and then will leave for Chattanooga and Fort Oglethorpe.

Accepts Luncheon Invitation.

WILLIAM C. DANIEL DIES MONDAY NIGHT

Funeral Services of Well-Known Atlantan Will Be Conducted at Residence on Wednesday Morning at 10:30 O'Clock.

William C. Daniel, one of the oldest and best known citizens of Atlanta, died at his home, 950 Highland avenue, last night at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Daniel was born in Heard county, Georgia, March 1, 1845. He went to Texas in 1869 and in 1886 returned to Georgia, making his home in Atlanta, where, with his two sons, Charles and L. J. Daniel, he founded the business now known as Daniel Bros. company.

Mr. Daniel was a confederate veteran, joining the Thirty-fifth Georgia regiment at the age of 16 years. He was sent to the army of Virginia under command of General Robert E. Lee, but was furloughed home on account of sickness.

Later he joined the Fifty-sixth Georgia regiment, fighting under Bragg and Johnson at Chickamaugua and the Atlanta campaign, being in the battles of Atlanta and Jonesboro.

He followed the leadership of "Fighting Hood" through Georgia and Tennessee to the battle of Nashville, where he was captured and sent to Camp Chase, Ohio, where he remained till the close of the war.

On January 4, 1866, he was married to Miss Frances Philpot, of Troup county, Georgia, who, with three children, L. J., Charles David and Miss Minnie Daniel, survive him.

The funeral will be held from the residence Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

LIQUOR, SUIT CASES AND FIVE PRISONERS ARE TAKEN IN RAID

In a whisky raid on a down-town hotel early last night, Detective Sergeant George C. Bullard and several city detectives secured two suit cases full of whisky and arrested Que South, 29, a taxicab operator and two negro bellboys of the hotel, who it is alleged have been selling whisky for South.

After arresting the negroes, the detectives state that one of the bellboys called up another "supplying tiger" and asked for the delivery of a quart. When the negro came in with the desired goods he was immediately placed under arrest by the detectives and investigations in regard to this supply led to the arrest of Porter DuBose, a negro tailor, of 264 Edgewood avenue, and Will Reed, a negro presser, of 15 South Lee street. The names of the hotel bellboys are D. Warwick and Robert Hulin.

All the parties arrested in the raid were carried to police station and charged with violating the Dolvin ordinance. Their bonds were fixed at $500 each.

POWER TO REOPEN CASES QUESTIONED

Gov. Hugh Dorsey Asks Ruling on Withholding Men From Army Service Until Investigation Is Made.

The power of the governor to withhold men from camp service, pending an investigation of their appeals from the district board and the duties of the board, in such cases, will probably be settled today in a message from Provost Marshal General Crowder.

A ruling was requested Monday by Governor Dorsey, following his action in requesting local boards of the state to withhold approximately one hundred men, including six Atlanta men, from army camps and cantonments. This step was taken following the receipt of a telegram from Washington, stating that appeals in cases of dependency and physical disability might be made to the governor, who would have power to investigate, and in such cases as there appeared to be good grounds to suggest to the district board that the hearing be reopened.

One Hundred Men Withheld.

Under this ruling some two hundred appeals were made to the governor, and in all cases which the adjutant general believed the governor should pass upon the papers, the boards were asked to hold the men, since their cases could not be reopened at all once they entered the army service.

Up to date the district board for north Georgia has taken no action on the matter at all, but M. M. Neese, who is in charge of the office, Monday told a reporter for The Constitution that, in his opinion, there was no appeal possible from this board in cases of dependency and physical disability; that the only claims that could be appealed were on industrial and agricultural grounds, which the president is to finally decide.

"I am not a member of the board, and I do not wish to speak as if representing them," stated Mr. Neese. "I will say, however, from what I know of the draft regulations as well as of the proceedings of the board, I do not believe anything can be done by the board in the matter.

Only Appeals to President.

"According to the rulings of Provost Marshal General Crowder no cases except those in the original jurisdiction of the district board can be appealed to the president. This means that only agricultural and industrial cases can be appealed from the decision of the district board, and that their decisions in cases of dependency and physical disability are absolutely final."

"In case there is any appeal to the president, even in cases filed on agricultural or industrial reasons, "it is a matter up to the board as to whether the appellant will be excused from immediate military duty or be sent to the camp pending the investigation."

And what is your opinion as to reopening claims? asked the reporter.

"My opinion is that even the district board itself is powerless to reopen any case after the person it represents has been certified by the board to the adjutant general for service and notified by the local board to entrain for service. Immediately after this action the man becomes a soldier subject to the will of the military authorities of the United States alone and both local and district boards lose all power over him."

Few Exemptions Granted.

A large number of cases were considered by the north Georgia district board Monday, but very few exemptions were granted.

Cases disposed of Monday by the district board follow:

Madison County.

Howard L. Burrough, Colbert, Ga., dependency. Appeal denied.

Pearl Adams, Commerce, Ga., dependency. Appeal denied.

Lee R. Scarborough, Danielsville, Ga., dependency. Appeal denied.

A. F. Ginn, Commerce, Ga., dependency. Appeal denied.

Oscar Lee Bond, Danielsville, Ga., dependency. Appeal denied.

Gordon County.

John P. Acree, Resaca, Ga., dependency. Appeal granted.

Gwinnett County.

J. R. King, Lawrenceville, Ga., agricultural. Time extended until December 1.

CANDLER WILL VETO RAISE FOR FIREMEN

Finance Committee of City Council, at Request of the Mayor, Asks That Salary Increase Be Turned Down.

By request of Mayor Candler, the finance committee of council, at an executive meeting Monday, passed a resolution asking the mayor to veto the ordinance proposing to increase the pay of each employee of the fire department by $5 a month. The mayor stated after the session that he would veto the measure.

The meeting was held in the mayor's private office, instead of in the regular aldermanic board's room.

The request for a veto was made with the understanding that the entire question of raising salaries of employees of other city departments will be referred later to the salary committee of council.

The proposed salary increase for the firemen contemplated taking the funds necessary from savings in the payroll apportionment to this department, and did not mean another call on the city's treasury through council for more money. Both the aldermanic board and council had unanimously passed the proposed increase.

The entire finance committee was present with the exception of Alderman Sisson.

Alderman Dunlap said he was opposed to asking the mayor to veto the salary increase, but that since the mayor had requested the finance committee to make the request that he voted for it.

Alderman J. Lee Barnes, ex-officio member of the police board, will introduce a similar ordinance at the next meeting of council, asking for a $5-a-month raise for the policemen.

Both Mayor Candler and Alderman Kelley, chairman of the finance committee, following Monday's meeting, declared that they were in favor of a salary increase for certain city employees who have been "hard hit" by the high cost of living, but that the city had no money for such a wholesale raise as that proposed for the firemen at the present time.

DR. JOHN LYMAN SEEKING FREEDOM

Federal Prisoner Claims That He Has Already Served Time and Is Now Being Held Illegally.

Claiming that he has been forced unlawfully to serve an eighteen months' sentence in the Atlanta federal penitentiary; that in serving the Atlanta sentence he has also served a sentence imposed upon him in the southern district court of California, and that he was denied the right of petition for parole after serving one-third of his term, Dr. John Grant Lyman, of New York, through his attorney, John R. Cooper, of Macon, will file Wednesday petition in the United States district court for habeas corpus against Warden Fred G. Zerbst, of the federal penitentiary, to secure his release. His term of eighteen months, imposed by a federal court in New York, ends today.

His petition for habeas corpus brings forth an interesting point in law, the question being whether or not a man already under sentence in one district may be tried and sentenced to another term in another district, and whether or not the sentences would then be concurrent. The California commitment failed to state that this sentence should begin at the conclusion of the New York sentence. The petition will be given a preliminary hearing by Federal Judge William T. Newman Monday morning.

Under Sentence in California.

Dr. Lyman, at the time of his trial and conviction in New York, before Federal Judge Wolverton, on the charge of violation of the postal laws, was under sentence in California. He was given a term of fifteen months, but appealed and was released under $20,000 bond. Lyman escaped to Tampa, Fla., where he was captured by a post-office inspector. He had been charged with using the mails to defraud, and on his person was found $170,000 in large bills. According to his petition he offered to return to California and waived his appeal so that his sentence would begin at once.

He was taken instead to New York, where he was tried before Judge Wolverton and sentenced to eighteen months in the Atlanta penitentiary, beginning his sentence here in July, 1916.

In the meantime, he was kept in the Tombs prison, in New York, for thirty days at the request of federal officials, who were straightening out Dr. Lyman's business affairs and who stated that it

Knoxville Mayor Tried As Friend Of Bootleggers

Witnesses Testify at Ouster Proceedings That the Mayor Protected "Blind Tigers" and Played Cards With Money on Table.

Knoxville, Tenn., September 24.—That Mayor John E. McMillan played a game of cards at which there was money on the table, ordered stopped the prosecution of a negro charged with violating the liquor selling law and was the protecting friend of certain bootleggers, was testified to Monday in circuit court in the hearing of proof on the state's motion to suspend him from office pending the outcome of ouster proceedings instituted against him by the state's attorney general. Among the legal points brought up during the day's proceedings was the constitutionality of the ouster law. The hearing will be resumed tomorrow.

The hearing of the motion to suspend Commissioner John W. Flenniken, against whom ouster proceedings were filed at the same time as those against Mayor McMillan, will not begin until the termination of the mayor's case.

Four witnesses called by the state's attorney Monday afternoon testified to facts known to them of the mayor's actions on certain occasions. Of these three testified to having been present at a barbecue given by one Constantine at his home shortly after the introduction into office of the present commission. On this occasion the witnesses said card playing was indulged in by Mayor McMillan and others. Money was on the table in front of one player, not the mayor, and bets with matches were made. None stated affirmatively or of his positive knowledge that the mayor had played for money during this game. Beer in kegs was free to all guests on this occasion, but it was not developed in the evidence that Mayor McMillan had indulged.

EXEMPT FARMERS, WILSON IS URGED

Barrett and Other Agricultural Leaders Tell President Draft Is Depleting Farms and Is Causing Unrest.

Washington, September 24.—Spokesmen for the nation's organized farmers asked President Wilson today to order a more liberal application of the army draft law to farm labor in order that agriculture may do its part in the war. They urged that the government not only should exempt men who apply, but should make it its business to keep skilled farmers out of the military service and require them to remain at their posts as producers.

The delegation that called at the white house was headed by a committee of the federal board of farm organizations and included the legislative committee of the National Grange and members of the house and senate from the great agricultural states. The federal board's committee presented a memorial setting forth the farmers' situation and formally asking relief.

Barrett Represented Georgia.

Representatives of Georgia agricultural organizations, headed by Charles Barrett, president of the Farmers' union, were among those who called on President Wilson.

"Agriculture is the only great industry now undermanned as compared with the standards existing before the war," the memorial said. "The shortage of farm labor is cutting down the productive power of American farms. Transportation companies, contractors and industrial plants offer for labor prices higher by far than any farmer can pay and still produce food for the consumer at reasonable rates.

"If the selective service act is based upon the desire of the government to put each man where he may serve his country best, then the administration of the act should not limit exemption to those who apply for it, as it does now. Many farmers who should be exempted refuse to apply. Many young men voluntarily enlist in the army who can serve most usefully elsewhere. We ourselves know of many young farmers who have left the farm for the army, to the loss of the nation as a whole.

Farms Already Undermanned.

"Because the world is short of food the government has asked the farmers as a patriotic service to increase their product. In answer to the call the farmers have done and will do their best. But already a large proportion of the farms are undermanned and the process of depletion proceeds unchecked. America is making the same mistake that England made instead of learning from her experience.

"What we seek is a more perfect administration of the purpose of the act to protect the essential occupations. We ask you to see to it that farm labor-

PEACE OR MORE WAR RESTS WITH WILSON, DECLARES HARDEN

Noted Editor of Die Zukunft Says Germans Want to Stop Struggle, and Reply to Pope Offers President Opportunity.

WILSON URGED TO TRY TO FORCE AN ARMISTICE

Harden Says Respite Would Establish Whether Conscience of Mankind Has Been Aroused—German People Surety for German Government.

Berlin, September 24.—(Via London.) In response to a request for his opinion of the German reply to the pope's peace note, Maximilian Harden, editor of Die Zukunft, in a statement to the Associated Press today prefaced his remarks with the reminder that every nation and every government is more or less tradition bound, none probably with tighter cords than Germany. This tradition, he said, heavily impeded any effort to break through the terrifying charmed circle with which the war's afflictions encompass them.

"The German reply," said Herr Harden, "is the first visible attempt to escape from the charmed circle, whose final obliteration is a preliminary condition to an enduring peace."

Germans Want to Stop War.

Herr Harden proceeded to declare that the note reflects the honest and sincere will of the majority of the people as unequivocally expressed in the reichstag resolution, adding:

"So far as lies in our power we want to stop the war and prevent the possibility of new wars by the cultivation of a new spirit, which will so completely impregnate international intercourse with ethical feeling that never again shall humanity behold the day when force will strangle right."

Denying that the German people ever seriously intended to apply open or covert force to the people or government of Belgium, he said:

"The words that are so construed are intended only to serve the purposes of war tactics, or sad necessity. Most eagerly do we desire to co-operate in the work of converting the misery and disgrace of this war into the turning point for a new epoch in which the sun will rise for the soul of mankind. This is the spirit and import of the German answer.

"The German empire will now be told that its answer is not sincerely meant, and that it is, in addition, a plain indicaton of the begnning of exhaustion. If in this most tragic hour of all human experiences we are unable to rise above the unclean vapors of such machinations, then we are indeed dwarfs in the hands of mighty fate.

"I am not given to adoration of my government, yet my conscience commands me to say that the German government in the full flush of military successes and in the exuberance of national strength, in this hour, has attempted the possible, and the unbending and determined will of the majority of the German people stands surety for that which the government and the reichstag majority have promised.

Still Believes in Wilson.

"I belong to that by no means small number, who, despite misunderstanding and baiting on both sides, still believe in the lofty ethical seriousness of President Wilson. Tomorrow that seriousness of purpose can and must affirm itself.

"If I were President Wilson and in bounden knowledge realized that the gap between the hostile camps was no longer wide enough to justify a continuation of the carnage on any pretext I would tomorrow attempt to force a short armistice before the American and German soldiers meet on the battlefield.

"The purpose of this brief respite must be to establish whether, at last, the conscience of mankind everywhere has been aroused and whether an understanding is possible which will lead to the birth of a new spirit, bringing us deliverance from the misery that now runs red with blood.

"All nations are abiding the advent of this spirit. So Germany, too, is abiding it without fear. Woe unto him who in this hour of fate falls in his duty toward this epitome of the union of mankind and the god head."

COWARDICE ALLEGED IN GERMAN REPLY.

London, September 24.—The Manchester Guardian considers that the German reply is not strictly an answer to the Pope's appeal for peace. The Guardian says:

"We are sorry to say it, but we find

SIX PERSONS KILLED AND 20 ARE INJURED IN LONDON DISTRICT

While Airplanes Were Attacking the British Metropolis Zeppelins Were Bombing Lincolnshire and Yorkshire.

AERIAL TORPEDOES USED BY THE GERMAN AIRMEN

Scream of the Torpedoes Easily Distinguishable From Explosions of Bombs. British Aircraft Battled With Germans for About an Hour Over London District.

German airplanes and airships have carried out simultaneous raids on England. The airplanes invaded the southeastern coast district of England and reached London, while the airships struck north of London off the coast of Lincolnshire and Yorkshire.

British aircraft engaged the German airplanes in a battle of more than an hour over the southeastern district of London. In addition to dropping the bombs, the Germans used a number of aerial torpedoes. The airplanes also crossed the counties of Kent and Essex. The casualties caused by the airplanes so far reported are six dead and about twenty injured.

The German airships made their foray into England early Tuesday.

BOMBS DROPPED AT MANY PLACES BY THE RAIDERS

London, September 25.—Hostile airplanes attacked the southeast coast of England this evening. According to the official announcement, the raiders came in different places in Kent and Essex. A few of them followed the Thames and attacked London.

Bombs were dropped at several points. The casualties so far reported are six persons killed and about twenty injured.

The raid on London occurred between 8 and 9 o'clock, and lasted about forty-five minutes.

British airmen engaged the raiders, but with what results is not yet known. The Germans used a number of aerial torpedoes.

The German planes appeared over the southeastern district of London soon after 8 o'clock, and the engagement lasted until nearly 9:30. The raiders were scattered and did not come in compact formation. Many star shells were used by the defense guns, giving the appearance of spectacular fireworks. The scream of the torpedoes used by the Germans was distinguishable easily from the explosions of guns or bombs.

The people of London behaved extremely well. They followed police instructions for taking cover, and there was no panic.

German Zeppelins also appeared across the coast of Yorkshire and Lincolnshire. The result of their visit has not yet been learned.

The purpose of the Germans apparently was the indiscriminate slaughter of the civilian population of London. As far as investigation of the Associated Press up to 2 o'clock this morning were able to discover, the casualties were few.

The Germans did not attack any points of military importance, but dropped their bombs, as usual, on the residential districts, mostly upon the dwellings of the poorer classes.

No Panic in Theaters.

If a panic might be expected anywhere while the noise of battle was proceeding it would be in the crowded theaters, but the performances in the majority of the playhouses proceeded without a break. The second night of the grand opera in Drury Lane was on and the program was carried through to the end, only a few people leaving the house. In one theater where an American play was being presented the audience applauded the actors enthusiastically and the company responded by giving a cheerful round of applause on the stage for the audience. Another theater lowered the fireproof curtain after the first act. The manager came to the front and said the interval would be longer than usual and requested the audience to go into passageways, where it would be safer than in the auditorium, which they did. They returned to their seats after half an hour.

One of the largest music halls has a wartime orchestra of sixty women. They played the accompaniments to the acts without interruption. Many persons living in the neighborhood of the underground railways took refuge in the stations. The work of the police, firemen, civil constables and Red Cross, as well as the women's auxiliaries, was prompt.

No reports of any serious casualties have been received by the press association, although the suburbs have not yet been heard from.

The latest reports indicate that the Germans came in three squadrons. The first warning was given in the outlying district at 7:20 o'clock, and the police announced "all clear" about 10:20 o'clock.

Get Your Hudson Super-Six Now While You Can

Present Prices Can Not Last Long
51 Cars Have Already Advanced

From the standpoint of real value, the Hudson Super-Six is the lowest-priced car on the market.

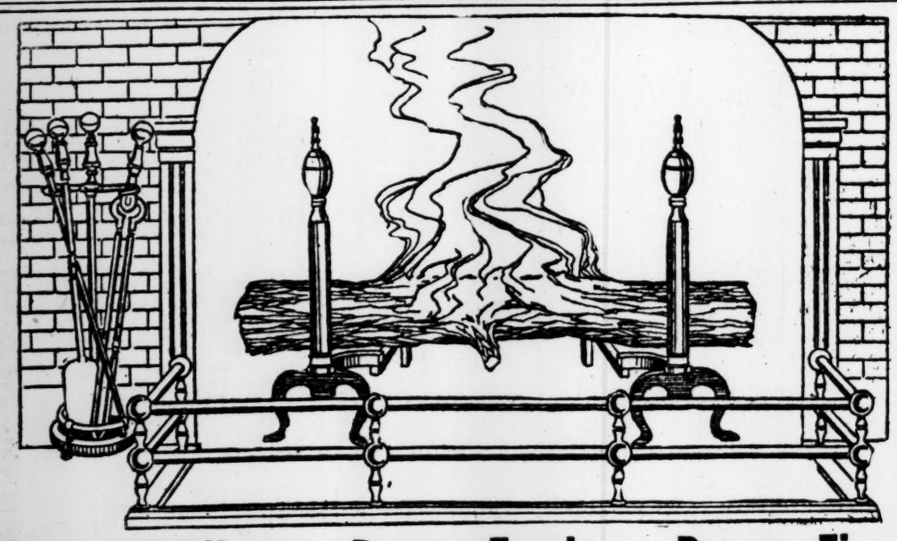

Recent price advances on 51 cars have entirely upset the usual standards by which motor car values have been determined. In each price group cars naturally found their own place. But now, because some makers must supply their material wants in the present high market and because Hudson has a limited supply bought last year, the selling prices of cars do not indicate their values.

Those companies which faced the necessity of buying materials in the high market had to advance their prices in proportion. It added as much as $100 to $700 to the retail price of cars. It forced former $1,200 and $1,400 cars up to approximately the price of a Hudson Super-Six.

Hudson prices for the time being remain unchanged. Judged by today's material market the Super-Six would have to sell at approximately $2,000. Today you can get a seven-passenger phaeton at $1,650. Such prices can not be continued when the supply of materials now on hand is exhausted. You save money by buying your Hudson Super-Six now.

People never compare the Super-Six with cars sold at or near its price. It has always been likened to cars selling at hundreds of dollars above its price.

ROTARIANS RAISE $500 FOR BIG LIBRARY FUND

Twelve committees of the Rotary club reported at a meeting at the chamber of commerce Monday morning that $700 of the $2,500 fund allotted as Atlanta's share of the American library fund had been raised. This fund is to be used by the library association for the purpose of erecting at each of the thirty-two cantonments a comfortable building to be used as a library, which will contain at least 10,000 books.

The other committees are hard at work, and all are confident that the money will be forthcoming in a short time. The total of the fund is $1,000,000, but Atlanta's share amounts to only $2,500. Camp Gordon will be given one of the libraries fully equipped. Robert L. Foreman, state director for the campaign, announced that the building will be started in October if the campaign is successful.

Each person contributing $1 to the campaign will have his name placed on a slip and pasted on the face of a volume, so that the soldiers will know who gave the books to them. Contributions should be made to J. E. C. Pedder, manager of the local office of Bradstreet, who is chairman of the campaign committee of the Rotary club.

Lyman Makes Protest.

Lyman was defending himself and uttered a vigorous protest, asking that he be sent to Atlanta at once in order that he might begin serving his sentence. In his petition he alleges that Federal Judge Wolverton asserted that his sentence began from that date (June 9, 1916). Lyman claims that he has been held for the past thirty days illegally, as his sentence should have ended one month ago, and further, that he is still being held under that commitment, which he claims is manifestly unjust and illegal.

If Lyman's appeal to Judge Newman is granted, he will walk from the prison a free man. If it is not he will begin serving a fifteen months' sentence in the Atlanta federal pen, the punishment imposed upon him in California four years ago.

HABEAS CORPUS ASKED FOR MEANS

Move to Free the Alleged Slayer of Mrs. King—Experts Swear Woman Did Not Shoot Herself.

Concord, N. C., September 24.—Through his counsel E. T. Cansler, Gaston B. Means applied late tonight to Superior Court Judge James Webb, at Gastonia, N. C., for a writ of habeas corpus to free Means, who was brought before a magistrate here today for a preliminary hearing on a warrant charging him with the murder of Mrs. Maude A. King.

The state rested its case late today and Attorney Cansler set out immediately for Gastonia, some 45 miles from here.

Judge Webb stated over the telephone at midnight that the writ was before him and he would announce his decision later. Should Judge Webb grant the writ the prosecution would be called upon to appear before him at Gastonia and show cause why Means should not be freed. This would mean virtually going over the case again, as brought out at the hearing today.

Details of Hearing.

Concord, N. C., September 24.—The state concluded its case at the preliminary hearing here today of Gaston B. Means on a warrant charging him with the murder of Mrs. Maude A. King, without giving any hint of a possible motive. It confined itself to an effort to show "probable cause" which would be sufficient to bind Means over to the grand jury.

An adjournment until tomorrow was taken immediately after the state finished presenting witnesses, the defense requesting time to confer before announcing what steps it would take.

Among the witnesses who testified for the prosecution today were two experts who declared that in their opinion it would have been a physical impossibility for Mrs. King to have shot herself in the manner in which she received her fatal wound near here early in the evening of August 29 last. Means, who was the business agent of the wealthy widow, was with her at target practice at Blackwelder Springs, when the shooting occurred and he told a coroner's jury that she shot herself accidentally.

The hearing was held before Magistrate C. A. Pitts, counsel for Means, declining to have him examined before Magistrate Palmer.

Solicitor Hayden Clement, who conducted the prosecution, avoided any mention of Means' business relations with Mrs. King or of the fortune estimated at more than a million which she inherited from her husband, the late J. C. King, of Chicago. Chicago authorities investigated this feature when the Cook county coroner had the body exhumed and District Attorney Swann, in New York, also went into this matter as well as investigating reports that Means had correspondence with German organizations or agents.

Events Prior to Tragedy.

Testimony today dealt only with events that happened after the arrival in North Carolina of Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Means and Mrs. King, a short time before the woman met her death which the coroner's jury decided resulted from the accidental discharge of a pistol in her own hands.

Representatives of Cook county and New York officials came here and aided in preparation of the state's case, two of them testifying as expert witnesses. C. B. Ambrose, of the federal department of justice, also was present with the prosecution as was Attorney General J. Ross Manning, of North Carolina. Means was represented by eight attorneys, headed by Frank I. Osborne, of Charlotte.

It was a crowded courtroom that heard witnesses for the state describe the target-shooting trip, which carried Gaston Means, his brother, Afton Means, Captain W. S. Bingham, of Concord, and Mrs. King to a little spring in Cabarrus county, where the woman was shot. Standing shoulder to shoulder even in the aisles of the courtroom, townspeople and many from all over the county followed every feature as it was developed, and once when E. T. Cansler, of counsel for Means, unsuccessfully sought to draw an admission from Dr. Otto Schultze, medical assistant to District Attorney Swann, of New York, the New Yorker was given a round of applause.

"They did that when the Saviour was crucified," Cansler cried out. "The Saviour is not on trial," said the solicitor. "No, but this defendant is as innocent," replied the defending attorney.

Magistrate Pitts announced further applause would be followed by fines.

Testimony offered by the state included that of seven witnesses, beginning with L. A. Weddington, a local undertaker, who prepared the body for burial and accompanied it to Chicago with Gaston Means and Mrs. Mazie Melvin. The latter, a sister of Mrs. King, has protested her belief in Means' innocence and sat in court with him today.

Couldn't Have Shot Self.

Dr. William H. Burmeister, chief coroner's physician of Cook county, Ill., then took the stand and after qualifying as an expert on pistol wounds, described the course the bullet took from the place where it entered the back of the woman's head. Dr. Burmeister declared in answer to a question by the solicitor that in his opinion it would have been impossible for the woman to have held in her hand the pistol which inflicted the wound. She was right-handed, he said, and could not have placed her right hand back of her head in such a manner as to have fired the shot. He also declared the muzzle of the pistol must have been more than ten inches away from her head when it was fired, asserting that he found no powder stains or marks and no burned or singed hair on her head. On cross-examination he described experiments which he said proved this.

Dr. Otto Schultze, professor of pathology at Cornell university and medical assistant to the district attorney of New York county, when he took the stand later, agreed with Dr. Burmeister's statements and added that firing an automatic pistol such as Mrs. King used required that one finger pull the trigger and that the safety clutch must be pressed simultaneously by that part of the palm between the thumb and forefinger.

"A person could not bend the hand and arm around the shoulder in such a way as to make that wound," he said, "and at the same time be able to press the trigger and safety clutch."

On cross-examination Dr. Schultze was asked by Attorney Cansler if "anything would make you change your belief that Mrs. King did not kill herself?" The pathologist replied that he was positive she did not inflict the wound.

Attorney Cansler asked Dr. Schultze as he previously had asked Dr. Burmeister if he was being paid a fee to come to North Carolina and aid the prosecution. Both said they were getting no more than their usual salary and that their expenses were being borne by county authorities in their respective states.

Sold Pistol to Means.

M. F. Ritchie, a local hardware dealer, told of selling Means the automatic pistol with which Mrs. King was killed, and C. W. Andrews, a hotel clerk at Salisbury, testified that Means, his wife and Mrs. King spent the night of August 18 at that hotel. Neither side went into the reason for introduction of this phase of the case.

Captain W. S. Bingham testified that as a friend of Means he had frequently taken automobile rides with members of the Means family on which Mrs. King accompanied them and had several times seen Mrs. King fire a pistol. He was a member of the party on the trip on which Mrs. King met her death, but said he was about 140 yards distant from her when the fatal shot was fired. Gaston Means called to him, he said, and when he ran back Means told him Mrs. King had shot herself accidentally. He said that when he was called back from his walk by Gaston Means and found Mrs. King dead he called Ernest Eury, the negro chauffeur, but Eury was not in sight and did not respond for a few minutes. No one else was in sight.

It has been indicated that the state would seek to establish by Bingham that no persons other than those in the party of target shooters was present. This was understood to have been done because of an anonymous letter to a New York newspaper saying the writer had witnessed the death of Mrs. King.

Charles Dry, a farmer whose home is within a few hundred yards of where Mrs. King was shot, declared in his testimony that he heard two shots that night about the time Mrs. King was killed.

An automobile dashed down to the spring soon after the first shot, he said. Dry was asked about what time of night it was and about how much light there was around that time. "The moon was about a half to an hour high," he said, "but it was a hazy night and about as dark as it ever gets to be."

The exact time of the woman's death, which was some time after 6:30 o'clock, has never been established to the joint satisfaction of both sides and neither has the amount of light from the moon which Captain Bingham said was sufficient to have allowed him to kill a rabbit. Dr. Schultze's testimony followed and court then adjourned.

"QUART A MONTH" LAW GOES IN WEST VIRGINIA

U. S. Judge Keller Holds It Does Not Violate Federal "Bone Dry" Act.

Huntington, W. Va., September 24.—The West Virginia "quart-a-month" law which permits the bringing into the state one quart of liquor each month does not violate the federal "bone dry" act, according to a decision handed down late today by Judge Benjamin F. Keller in federal court here. The court held that the federal statute prohibits interstate commerce in liquor, but does not apply to interstate transportation as constituted by the bringing in of liquor for personal use.

District Attorney McCullough announced after the opinion had been handed down that he would immediately appeal the case to the supreme court of the United States.

EXPEL LA FOLLETTE, URGES ROOSEVELT

Colonel Says Wisconsin Man Disgraces Senate by Presence—Urges War Against Austria and Turkey.

Kansas City, September 24.—"If I were this minute a member of the United States senate I would be ashamed to sit in that body until I found out some method of depriving Senator La Follette of his seat in that chamber which he now disgraces by his presence there," Colonel Theodore Roosevelt declared in a talk today at a luncheon given for Major General Wood and himself as a part of the middle western patriotic celebration of this city.

If United States Had Prepared.

Continuing his remarks concerning congress, Colonel Roosevelt asserted that if congress had taken the action three years ago that it has since the declaration of war, the war would have been over.

"If we take heed of any peace utterances Germany prepares we will show that we are not prepared yet to go out into the world without a guardian," the colonel added. "America must make good the words of President Wilson (make the world safe for democracy). For this reason we should declare war against Austria and Turkey."

At the conclusion of his talk Colonel Roosevelt was presented with a gold quill with the reminder that the pen is mightier than the sword.

"But I would rather have a sword," the Colonel said, "this is a very exclusive war, as far as I am concerned. I was blackballed by the committee on admission."

La Follette Serving Germany.

After praising Major General Wood, Colonel Roosevelt said:

"Now that I have spoken to you of Americans who stand for and are representatives of America, I now wish for a minute to speak to you of an American who represents the worst of American characteristics—Senator La Follette.

"Senator La Follette is at this moment loyally and efficiently serving one country—Germany. He is acting in such fashion as to make him one of the most potent enemies of this country and a most sinister enemy of democracy. He claims, and it is the emptiest of all claims, to stand for democracy. He is doing everything in his power to enthrone autocracy under the German flag throughout the world by the attitude he is now taking toward the war.

"I read a couple days ago of Senator La Follette's utterances before an organization out in Minneapolis and hereafter any organization that asks Senator La Follette to speak ought to be made to show conclusively why it should be considered a patriotic organization thereafter."

Men Must Win War, Says Wood.

Major General Leonard Wood in a speech following the former president said: "It is utter foolishness to say that America can win the war in the air or with chemical devices. It can only be won with men and by sacrifice."

CONSTIPATION CAUSES OBSTINATE HEADACHES

When your head aches you will usually find the bowels have been inactive, and if you relieve this condition, by clearing the intestinal organs of the fermenting congestion of stomach waste, foul gases and bile, the head is relieved immediately.

Remember this the next time you suffer from headache. The combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin sold by druggists under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is highly recommended as a gentle laxative that acts easily and quickly, without griping or discomfort. It contains no opiate, narcotic, or habit-forming drug, is pleasant to the taste, and a most effective household remedy. Mothers find it especially desirable as a laxative for children.

You can buy Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from your druggist for fifty cents. Get a bottle and have it in the house when needed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 456 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

GERMAN NEWSPAPERS FORCED TO SUSPEND

London, September 24.—The shortage of print paper in Berlin is so serious that many of the city's important newspapers were unable to appear on Saturday, according to Berlin advices to the Exchange Telegraph's Amsterdam correspondent. Other newspapers were issued only in four-page form, with the prospects for a paper supply so poor that they may have soon to stop publication altogether.

No Berlin newspapers reached Holland yesterday except forty copies of The Tageblatt, says the correspondent. Virtually all the newspapers in Saxony have ceased publication for an indefinite period.

The situation, says The Tageblatt, is serious. The advertising of the new German war loan, it points out, will naturally be impossible under these conditions as well as the printing of advertising of other kinds.

CROWN PRINCE FORCES MORE GERMANS TO DIE IN VERDUN SHAMBLES

Repeated Attacks Are Made on the French Positions, But All Are Checked With Heavy Losses.

GREAT ARTILLERY DUEL ON THE FLANDERS LINE

On the Riga Front Russians Continue Efforts to Drive Germans Back Toward the Dvina and Have Captured German Position.

New York, September 24.—(By Associated Press. From European Cables of the Day.)—Violent attacks by the soldiers of the German crown prince against the new French positions northeast of Verdun on Monday were checked with heavy losses by General Petain's men and the Germans gained nothing.

The assaults began with an attack on a front of about a mile and a quarter north of the Bois le Chaume. Only in the center of the assaulting line were the Germans able to reach the French positions, the artillery dispersing them elsewhere. The French fought valiantly and remained masters of the situation after inflicting heavy losses on the Germans.

GERMANS DRIVEN WITH LOSSES.

Simultaneously, the German crown prince threw forward two secondary attacking forces, one north of Bezonvaux, south of the Bois le Chaume, and the other southeast of Beaumont, northwest of the wood. Here the French did not wait for the Germans to reach their trenches, but went out to meet the attackers, who were driven back with losses.

Later in the day the crown prince hurled two new attacks against the Bois le Chaume, only to meet further failure. Again the French drove the Germans back with casualties and, in addition, captured fifty prisoners.

On the Aisne front there has been only artillery activity, except for the repulse by the French of a German surprise attack north of Braye-en-Laonnois.

In Flanders there has been no great infantry activity, although the opposing artilleries still are busy. The German fire is reported heavy on both banks of the Scarpe, east of Arras around Lens and notrheast of Ypres.

RUSSIANS CAPTURE GERMAN POSITIONS.

On the Riga-Dvinsk sector of the eastern front, the Russians continnue their efforts to drive the Germans back toward the Dvina in the region immediately scutheast of Riga. Petrograd reports the capture of a German defensive position in the sector of Silzeme. In further comment upon the booty taken at Jacobstadt last week, Berlin officially makes the statement that quantities of provisions, including bread and flour, were captured there.

There have been no further infantry actions on the Bainsizzà plateau, northeast of Gorizia or on the Carso. Northwest of Trent, in the region of Marmolada, the Austro-Hungarians have failed in an attempt to dislodge the Italians from their recently-won gains.

GERMANS ATTACK ON VERDUN FRONT, BUT ARE REPULSED

Paris, September 24.—The Germans made repeated attacks against the French lines today, particularly north of Verdun, where they were driven back under the French fire along a front of about a mile and a quarter. Secondary attacks north of Bezonvaux and near Beaumont were also repulsed with sanguinary losses, according to the statement of the war office tonight.

The text reads:

"On the Aisne front the artillery action was very spirited in the neighborhood of Braye-en-Laonnois, Cerny and Hurtebise. We repulsed a surprise attack against our small posts north of Braye.

"On the right bank of the Meuse, following the bombardment reported in the morning communiaction, the Germans attacked our trenches north of Bois le Chaume along a front of about two kilometers. The attack was carried out by our battalions supported by special assaulting troops. Disorganized by our fire the enemy was unable to reach our lines on the greater part of the front of the attack. In some trench elements in the center, where the enemy had succeded in gaining a foothold, violent fighting ensued, which ended to our advantage. Our soldiers, after inflicting heavy losses on the adversary, remained masters of their positions.

"At the same time two secondary attacks were delivered, one north of Bezonvaux, the other southeast of Beaumont; these likewise suffered a sanguinary check by reason of the valor of our troops who, leaving their own trenches, advanced fiercely to meet their assailants.

"In the course of the afternoon two new attempts carried out against our trenches in the Bois le Chaume resulted only in augmenting the number of losses suffered by the enemy without gaining for him the slightest advantage. We took about 50 prisoners in the course of this action.

"Eastern Theater: The artillery was quite active on the Vardar front, around Doiran and the Cernad bend. On September 22 the Bulgarians succeeded in gaining a temporary foothold in a work in the first line east of Lake Presba. They were driven out almost immediately by a Russian counter attack."

BRITISH CHECK GERMAN RAIDERS.

London, September 24.—German heavy guns were active early this morning on both banks of the River Scarpe, on the Arras front in France, Field Marshal Haig reported today. A German raiding party near La Basseeville was driven away after a sharp fight last night with the British. The statement issued today by the British war office says:

"A hostile raiding party last night near La Basseeville was driven off with loss after a short fight. A few of our men are missing.

"The enemy's artillery was active early this morning on both banks of the Scarpe and artillery activity also was shown during the night south of Lens and northeast of Ypres."

The official report from British headquarters in France tonight reads:

"Under cover of the bombardment referred to in today's communique, the enemy attempted two raids early this morning in the neighborhood of Monchy le Preux and another south of the Arras-Doual railway. In all these cases the hostile parties were repulsed by our fire, leaving a number of dead in front of our trenches.

"Another enemy party raided our trenches early this morning west of LaBassee. One of our men is missing. The report this morning that some of our men were missing as a result of a hostile raid carried out last night near LaBassee Ville has since been found to be incorrect, as none of our men was missing.

"On the battle front our patrols have been active today, a number of prisoners were brought in. Our artillery activity continues, but no infantry action occurred."

QUIET REPORTED BY THE GERMANS.

Berlin, September 24.—(Special.)—The German war office statement issued today says that the British troops made no fresh attacks yesterday on the Flanders front.

The supplementary statement from general headquarters this evening reads:

"There has been lively fighting activity in Flanders and on the eastern bank of the Meuse."

RUSSIANS STRIKE ON THE RIGA FRONT AND DRIVE GERMANS

Petrograd, September 24.—Russian forces on the Riga front in the region of the Pskoff high road yesterday took the offensive and after a fierce struggle occupied the German positions in the sector of Silzeme, the Russian war office announced today.

BOOTY TAKEN BY GERMANS.

Berlin, September 24.—(Via London.) General von Ludendorf announces in the official German statement issued today that rich quantities of provisions, including bread and flour, fell into the hands of the Teutons when they captured the Russian town of Jacobstadt, on the Dvina river, last week.

Twenty Buildings Burned.

Lawton, Okla., September 24.—Twenty buildings, all but two of which were of wooden construction, were destroyed by fire which broke out shortly after noon today and swept through an entire block on E avenue and a half block on D avenue, entailing an estimated loss of $135,000.

MANY U. S. TROOPS CAMPED IN RANGE OF GERMAN CANNON

These Soldiers Are on Historic Battlefield and Far Removed From the Rest of Pershing's Force.

Somewhere Along the British Front in France, September 24.—(By the Associated Press.)—On a historic battlefield which merges into the fighting lines are encamped many American troops, far removed from the rest of their compatriots, who form the vanguard of Uncle Sam's expeditionary force in France.

For military reasons it is impossible to tell the world just where these men are, who they are or what they are doing to further the interests of the entente allied cause, but it may be said on authority to friends at home that they are a credit to the Stars and Stripes, which for the first time in history fly over a camp of American soldiers in this part of the war-wrecked world. Some of them have been working continually in a zone covered by German guns and already two of their number have been wounded, a fact whereof they are exceedingly proud.

The Associated Press heard these men were here and sought them out. The visit involved a long motor trip, but the sight of their bronzed faces and the sound of their cheerful, determined voices more than repaid for the long journey. They are a fine, healthy looking lot and nearly two months of hard work in the open under real campaigning conditions has put them in shape and they are ready for anything.

Anxious to Meet Germans.

Especially are they prepared and anxious to try honors with the Germans. In fact their only grievance is that for the present they are not permitted, except where necessity demands, to expose themselves to the enemy's big guns. They want to feel the thrill that one experiences when explosives are going up all about and when shells herald their approach across No Man's Land with a wicked whine. In fact until a stringent order was issued recently the American officers had a hard time keeping their men out of the British front line trenches. It is said that more than one American soldier has crept away when off duty and after making friends with the "Tommies" has taken his place beside them for a few glorious minutes while a minor battle was progressing.

It would have been unwise, perhaps, for the correspondent to inquire too closely whether any of the American officers had "done their bit" in this manner. Nevertheless, the correspondent had grave suspicions that some of them had been "over the top" with their allies in early days before orders forbade it. However, they are good disciplinarians and nobody is disregarding the edicts which have been issued by the higher command.

The correspondent visited two different camps and in each there were the same scenes of methodical activity characteristic of American methods. Things were moving smoothly and no false motions were being made. Efficiency was the by-word everywhere.

It was noon when the second camp was reached and the officers and men were preparing for mess. Several clean-cut young officers came out to greet the correspondent and it was a cheery welcome with a firm hand grip and a hearty "I'm mighty glad to see you."

One would have known he was in an American camp if he had been blindfolded.

Plenty of Beans.

An invitation was extended to mess and it was accepted.

"I'm afraid we can't offer you very much to eat," said one officer. "You see our cook is ill and just at this moment we are getting along as best we can. But we can give you plenty of beans and—well, plenty more beans," he ended with an apologetic laugh.

So Boston baked beans were served, the first the correspondent had seen in two years of knocking about which had taken him from revolution-torn Dublin to the Mohmand revolt on the northwest frontier of India. And they were the best beans ever canned or that ever will be canned.

During the meal the correspondent fell into conversation with a young officer who comes from one of the famous and wealthy families of the United States.

"How do you like out here?" asked the correspondent.

The officer gazed reflectively through the open door of the mess room out across the open and beyond the camp. As far as the eye could reach there was a scene of devastation and desolation. Here and there shattered walls of a building reared themselves to mark the spot where a farm house or perhaps a village had stood.

For miles could be seen shattered trunks of trees that had been smashed by great shells as though rent by lightning. Occasionally the eye met a little graveyard with its wooden crosses—some for German soldiers and some for British who had died in the sanguinary fighting which had taken place over this ground. In places there were remains of German dugouts, for the enemy had held this territory at one time.

Myriads of Mounds.

Grass was growing over all this waste, but could not coneal the myriad of mounds that marked the lips of great shell craters which pitted the entire zone. The officer finally answered:

"Well, it isn't exactly the same as Forty-second street and Broadway here, but we didn't come out looking for the 'great white way.' We are here for business and we like it—partly for itself and partly because we ought to like it. We want to do our bit, and we are more anxious to do it then ever before.

"I think that some of our boys who have crept up and stolen a look at the fighting lines have been a little disappointed in a way. Of course they read of what it was like over here, but it did not seen quite right not to see banners flying on the battlefield and not to witness troops moving out in the open. But they all are tremendously impressed with things in general. They realize more than they did what a vast business this is. And they are all anxious to do a bigger part.

"The health of the camp is excellent and the men are as hard as nails. We are ready for the call to real action."

The American quarters are very simple. One officer proudly displayed quarters that he had built out of airplane wings which had been discarded by the British and had been presented to him by a colonel. It was an ingeniously constructed little house and certainly made of unique material.

The reported high reward offered by a German officer for the first American soldier brought into the German lines, dead or alive, has immensely amused the yankees.

"We aren't worrying about it any," laughed one officer. "We are here and 'Fritz' can come after us any time he is ready. We will be waiting."

This contingent of Americans is learning all the while and should make a valuable addition to the American fighting front. All the officers are loud in praise of the fine welcome and treatment accorded them by the British.

"They are mighty fine folks," is the unanimous conclusion of the Americans.

THIRD SERIES OF CAMPS FOR TRAINING OFFICERS

Candidates to Come From Regular Army Privates and Drafted Men.

Washington, September 24.—A third series of officers' training camps will be opened by the war department early in January. Candidates for commissions, Adjutant General McCain announced tonight, will be selected from enlisted men of the regular army or those called to the colors under the selective draft law, no applications from civilians being considered.

None of the training camp sites now being utilized will be used for the next series, it was said, although no intimation of the location of the camps has been given. It is probable that following the system used in selecting national army cantonments, the majority of the camps will be situated in the south in order to escape the rigors of a northern winter.

The camps will afford men of the national army an opportunity to win commissions and it is probable that the drafted men will be heavily represented. Secretary Baker recently announced that every chance would be afforded national army men to rise from the ranks.

SOCIETY

Belgian Orchestra to Play At the Capital City Country Club.

The special feature of music by the much-talked-of Belgian orchestra from Signal Mountain Inn, Tennessee, will make the dinner-dance at the Capital City Country club tonight an occasion of unique interest.

During the dinner the band of eight musicians, who vary the brilliance of their repertoire by their ability to handle twenty-one instruments, will provide a concert program, in which they will be assisted by their soprano soloist, and afterwards the club members and their friends will have the opportunity to enjoy the ideal dance music for which the orchestra is still more famous.

Among the reservations already made are those of Mr. Wiley West, who will have a party of twenty, Mr. Ben M. Holt, Captain J. R. Nicholls, Mr. F. J. Merriam, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Watkins, Mr. Eugene Haynes, Mr. Lewis and others.

For Visitor.

Mrs. Horace Clark will entertain this afternoon at her home in Kirkwood in compliment to her guest, Mrs. Ashley Outlaw, of Forsyth. The guests will include the members of the hostess' rook club.

Crichton-Fielder.

An interesting wedding of October will be that of Miss May Delaplaine Crichton and Mr. Kendall Jordan Fielder, lieutenant Fifty-sixth infantry, U. S. A., which will take place Saturday, October 6, at noon at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Logan McLean Crichton, on Piedmont avenue.

Dr. Ashby Jones, of the Ponce de Leon Baptist church, will perform the ceremony, which will be witnessed by only relatives and close friends.

Miss Hallie Irwin Williamson, of Burlington, N. C., will be the maid of honor, and Mr. Thomas Fielder, of Columbus, will be best man.

The ribbon bearers will include Miss Virginia Fielder, of Cedartown; Miss Louise Richardson, Miss Marion Dunson, Miss Marian Stearns and Miss Elizabeth Hawkins.

Miss Charlotte Wilkins and Miss Frances Winship will serve punch.

Miss Grace Bloodworth and Miss Carolyn Nicholson will pour coffee.

A wedding breakfast will follow the ceremony.

Mr. Fielder and his bride will leave for a short stay at Signal Mountain Inn, and after October 15 will be at Chickamauga. Among the out-of-town guests who will attend the wedding will be:

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Fielder, Mr. William Fielder and Miss Virginia Fielder, of Cedartown; Mr. Thomas Fielder of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Williamson, Miss Hallie Irwin Williamson and Mr. Robert Williamson, of Burlington, N. C.; Mrs. C. B. Irwin, of Graham, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Freeman of Senoia, and Lieutenant Clifton Barrett, of the Seventeenth Infantry, stationed at Fort Oglethorpe.

To Miss Robinson.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Whipple Connally entertained at dinner Saturday evening at the Capital City club in compliment to Miss Mary Robinson and Mr. Shelby Myrick, of Savannah. Covers were laid for ten.

Birthday Dinner.

A pleasant occasion of Saturday evening was the dinner party given by Mrs. Frank Spratlin in compliment to Mr. Spratlin, whose birthday was celebrated.

Bridge was played after dinner. There were eight guests.

Matinee Party.

Mrs. Louis Leonard entertained at a matine party yesterday at the Lyric in compliment to Mrs. Julius Jennings. The guests included Mrs. Jennings, Mrs. Marion Harper, Mrs. B. H. Hardaway and Miss Mary Hines.

Annual Art Exhibit.

The fourth annual exhibition of paintings by Atlanta artists will be held the first week in October in Edison hall, corner Peachtree and Ellis streets, under the auspices of the Atlanta Art association.

Mr. Wilbur Kurtz, the chairman of the art committee, requests that all exhibitors send their work to the Edison hall on Friday, September 28, when a jury will select those paintings to be exhibited. Any number of paintings may be sent in, but only six will be exhibited for any one artist:

A prize of $50 in gold is offered for the best piece of work in any medium.

The exhibition will be open on Monday morning, October 1, and will continue for a week, and will be free to the public.

McWhirter-Thomas.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Belliveau, of Lynchburg, Va., announce the engagement of their sister, Agnes Mary McWhirter, formerly of Atlanta, but now of Lynchburg, to Mr. Jeremiah Lindsay Thomas, of that city, the wedding to take place November 14, at Holy Cross church, Lynchburg, Va.

Willis-Cater.

Mr. and Mrs. William Emmette Willis, of Walden, Ga., announce the engagement of their sister, Louise, to Dr. Robert Lee Cater, Jr., of Macon, the wedding to take place in October. No cards.

Ambulance Envelopes.

Mrs. Beaumont Davison, chairman war and emergency committee, Joseph Habersham chapter, D. A. R., requests all members who have not returned the ambulance envelopes which were given them some time ago, to please do so at once.

MEETINGS

East Atlanta Parent-Teacher association will hold its first fall meeting in the school building at 2:30 Tuesday, September 25. Mrs. John Rowlett, the state president, will address the meeting, and there will be an election of officers. All interested are urged to attend.

The Parent-Teacher club of Walker Street school will have their first meeting Thursday, September 27. Mrs. J. W. Rowlett will be present and conduct the installing of new officers for the year. A large attendance is desired by the president, as many new plans are to be discussed.

The Mothers' class of the First Baptist church, after a vacation for the past three months, will resume their regular monthly meetings on Tuesday afternoon, September 25, at 3 o'clock, when Mrs. Elizabeth McCarthy will address the class of "The Home and School." It is earnestly hoped that all members will be present and all interested in this vital subject are most cordially invited to be present.

The Atlanta chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, will meet in the Woman's club Thursday afternoon, September 27, at 3 o'clock. A full attendance is requested.

DAILY HAPPENINGS OF THE Y. W. C. A.

Do you know that the Young Woman's Christian association is to be moved from Houston street to the new Arcade building on the viaduct?

Do you know that with the moving Y. W. C. A. facilities are to be greatly enlarged? That the furnishings are to be in keeping with the elegant furnishings of the Camp Gordon Hostess House? That the Y. W. C. A. is to have an enlarged gymnasium in the Arcade that will make even Atlantans gasp with surprise and admiration? Do you know that with the opening of the Arcade Y. W. C. A. and the Hostess House, Atlantans are to have a real thrill of civic pride?

The social and artistic event of the week is to be the song festival to be given on the lawn of the E. P. McBurneys in Peachtree road, either Friday or Saturday evening, the date depending on when Miss Shepherd, extension worker, can arrange to have the regimental band come in and give the necessary tone to the patriotic occasion. Mrs. McBurney has ordered colored lawn lanterns from New York—the amber kind that are all the rage. Refreshments will be served without Hoover limitations. The girls of the S. I. S. P. club, of the Jean Witham club, of the Jubilee Era, Clover club, Blue Ribbon, of the Buford Home, and of the American Sunshine club of the Wesley house will furnish their share of the charming entertainment by singing folk songs of England, Ireland, Scotland and America. All these girls are members of the Patriotic league, a league for patriotic girls, of which department of the Atlanta branch of the war work council Miss Sarah Bell is chairman. The song festival is to be so informal and it is not every day that one has the opportunity to hear the regimental band.

Y. W. C. A. Secretaries Busy.

Monday Miss Miriam Shepherd spent all day at the Ivy exchange organizing a Patriotic league unit of the telephone girls. The all-day event was the result of Miss Shepherd having to talk to the girls in shifts as they were off duty. Miss Nell Prince, who is in charge of the telephone company's employment and vocational work, assisted Miss Shepherd in planning the day, which was more than successful, as the league unit was organized and straightway the telephone girls will begin to do their bit by knitting for the Fulton county soldiers. It is a possibility that with the opening of the Y. W. C. A. in the Arcade, as the telephone girls are so near, they may run over for a game of basket ball during their rest periods.

Monday afternoon Miss Edna Sammis, Y. W. C. A. extension worker, talked to a union meeting of the Methodist ladies of Atlanta, the announcement of the meeting having been made Sunday from the Methodist pulpits. The purpose of the union getting together is the desire on the part of the Methodist ladies to have Miss Sammis tell them how they may cooperate in the Y. W. C. A. work.

The Jean Witham club, now merged into a Patriotic league unit, entertained with a real party at the boarding house of the Y. W. C. A. Monday night, with Miss Sammis in charge.

Another announcement is that Mrs. H. B. Parker, chairman of music for the junior war work council, wishes all girls who are to take part in the song festival to meet at the Atlanta Woman's club Tuesday night, 7:30 o'clock, for a rehearsal. These girls include the following club members: S. I. S. P., Jean Witham, Jubilee Era, Clover club, Buford Home, American Sunshine, and the girls of the Ponce de Leon Patriotic league unit of the Second Baptist church.

Billy Sunday Survey.

Miss Shepherd is getting together a survey of business women in Atlanta for use in the Billy Sunday campaign. Cards bearing the names of business women and girls, their addresses, names of managers and forceladies will be carefully compiled and turned over to Billy Sunday, the survey being made through the Y. W. C. A. business women in the S. I. S. P. and Clover clubs.

The Y. W. C. A. camp out on the Marietta road is closed for the summer, this work being in charge of Miss Katiesue Moore, Y. W. C. A. teacher of physical culture. The girls who enjoyed the last camping week-end were the Misses Frances, Myra and Ethel Moss, Misses Norine Sears, Thelma Chamberlain, Mattie Terrell, Peggy Laurius, Berta Smith, Rhea King, Marie Almand and Rubie Martin.

BRUNSWICK DIRECTORY SHOWS 17,244 PEOPLE

Brunswick, Ga., September 24.—(Special.)—Brunswick's 1917-18 city directory, published by R. L. Polk & Co., was delivered to its subscribers here today. The directory is the largest and most complete ever issued, giving information of every kind about this city, as well as a complete list of all residents. The company, basing the figures on the number of names contained in the directory, gives Brunswick a population of 17,244.

OSCAR PAPPENHEIMER, LOVER OF MUSIC, DIES

End of Well-Known Atlantan Comes Monday Morning After Long Illness.

Oscar Pappenheimer, of 46 Ponce de Leon avenue, one of Atlanta's most esteemed citizens, died at his home Monday morning at 6 o'clock, after a long illness. He was 56 years of age.

Mr. Pappenheimer was a leading figure in promoting the growth of the business, social and civic life of the city. For a number of years he was secretary and treasurer of the Southern Furniture company, holding this position at the time of his death. For ten years he was a member of the Fulton County Board of Education.

Mr. Pappenheimer was widely known as a musical authority, enjoying a national reputation in this respect. His library of music in his Ponce de Leon home was one of the largest in the country. His home was noted for its spacious music room, with its pipe organ, its grand pianos and its racks of 'cellos and violins. He frequently gave recitals at his home, in which some of the most gifted musicians of the country appeared.

Surviving Mr. Pappenheimer are his wife and one daughter, Mrs. Lewis Parker; one son, Jack Pappenheimer, and two brothers, Alexander Pappenheimer, of Cincinnati, and Sigmund Pappenheimer, of Atlanta.

The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

GEORGIA'S QUOTA FOR REGULAR ARMY IS NOW COMPLETE

Georgia's quota for the regular army is now complete, Captain G. V. Heidt, of the Atlanta recruiting station, stated yesterday. However, recruits will still be accepted and transferred for enlistment. Men are still wanted for the national guard at Macon, and 596 men are needed at once for the remount stations, one at Camp Gordon and the other at Camp Wheeler, Macon. Two hundred and ninety-eight men are needed for each station.

Special attention is called to the unusually high percentage of non-commissioned officers' places to be filled, there being sixty-six at each camp, which causes enlistment in the remount station service to be very attractive. It is likely that these remount stations will be maintained during the entire period of the war, and those desiring to remain at the stations will probably be allowed to do so, as this is a non-combatant branch of the service.

There are also about ninety vacancies in the Georgia field hospital corps at Wheeler, near Macon. It is desired to have this corps made up entirely of Georgians. With this end in view, Major C. F. Holton, in charge of the Georgia field hospital enlistments, is in Atlanta, and will be at 508 Postoffice building until Wednesday to give information to prospective volunteers.

The following have been accepted since noon Saturday:

Judson Willis, Griswoldville; Andrew Barnett, Columbus; Archie J. Weaver, Columbus; Curtis Marchant, Columbus; Nathan B. Duncvan, Augusta; Leonard P. Baker, Ben Hill; John B. Carson, Camilla.

The following were accepted for national guard units and sent to Macon, Ga., for enlistment:

Alva J. Earwood, Dallas; Walter Smith, Fullwood Springs.

Accepted and sent to Camp Gordon for enlistment:

John W. Thomas, Dublin; William R. Hasety, Woodstock; William O. Ford, Atlanta.

Forwarded to Fort McPherson, Ga., for enlistment as stevedores colored regiments:

Grant Miller, Marietta; David West, Marietta; Will Maxwell, Marietta; Ira Williams, Marietta; Johnny Miles, Marietta; Tulloy Young, Marietta; Felix Sanders, Marietta; Henry Pace, Marietta; Joe Kiser, Marietta; Eddie Bird, Sylvester; Charles A. Holsey, Valdosta; Major J. McRay, Valdosta; Charley King, Atlanta; Judson D. Wright, Valdosta; George Fryer, Atlanta; Edwin Lester, Marietta; George Harvey, Atlanta; Floyd Irwin, Westlake; John Malone, Griffin; George Wright, Baxley; Edgar Clark, Dublin; John Smoak, Rome; George Brown, Atlanta; Joe Simms, Atlanta; Lee Walton, Atlanta; Charley Harris, Valdosta; Jesse Tucker, Atlanta; Flemming Harris, Atlanta; Sylvester Brown, Cuthbert; Alfred Harris, Atlanta; Ed Usher, Jersey; Frank Mayfield, Danielsville; Charles Beavers, Atlanta; Candler Davenport, Danielsville.

The following have been accepted for the navy:

H. H. Lowe, Reddick, Fla.; L. F. Frink, St. Augustine, Fla.; H. W. Bishop, Reddick, Fla.; L. C. Brown, Lumpkin, Ga.; T. A. Pikston, Jacksonville, Fla.; C. J. Fridy, Reddick, Fla.

WINSLOW RUSSELL TO MAKE ADDRESS TO CITY SALESMEN

The Salesmanship Club of Atlanta will hold its first meeting of the fall term today from 12:30 to 1:30 o'clock in the form of a luncheon in the assembly room at the Piedmont hotel.

Short addresses will be made by Mayor Asa G. Candler and Ivan D. Allen, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce. The guest of honor will be Winslow Russell, president of the Associated Club sof the World, who will deliver an address on "The Salesman of the Future." A large attendance is anticipated.

Mrs. Grant to Have Charge of Red Cross Workrooms in South

Mrs. John W. Grant, of Atlanta, has been appointed director of the Woman's bureau of the southern division of the Red Cross, and will have charge of all workrooms in this division, according to announcement made Monday morning at the office of the southern division. Mrs. Grant took charge Monday.

The new director has for several months been chairman of the Atlanta Red Cross chapter workrooms. Mrs. R. M. Johnston will succeed her to that post.

U. S. NOT TO FORTIFY BRUNSWICK'S HARBOR

The government will not make Brunswick a fortified harbor as recommended by the recent legislature, according to news received yesterday from the war department by Secretary of State Phil Cook. The fact that Brunswick is so far removed from any large cities renders it of no strategic value and for this reason it will be inadvisable to fortify it, according to the statement of the war department.

THE GROWING GIRL

A girl when in her teens is passing through a critical period of her life. The transition from childhood to maturity is not always easy; consequently, in many cases health breaks down entirely and the girl goes into a decline and dies young. If she escapes this fate, she may fall into a state of permanent ill-health. It is of the utmost importance, in order to insure normal and healthy development, that proper precautions be taken, and nothing has proved more helpful than the faithful use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the great woman's medicine and tonic.—(adv.)

CALL IS ISSUED FOR GEORGIA W. C. T. U. MEET

Oxford, Ga., September 24.—(Special.) The thirty-fifth annual convention of the Georgia Woman's Christian Temperance union will be held at Dawson, October 16-19, inclusive.

The annual convention is composed of the general officers, state superintendents, county presidents, state organizers, the president of each local union or young people's branch, or an alternate appointed by her, and one delegate for every twenty paid-up members. All Loyal Temperance Legions paying state dues shall be entitled to send their leader and one delegate, but children of the L. T. L. are not voting delegates.

"Let every union send its full quota of delegates," says the official call. "This year we face a condition hitherto unknown in our history. To attend the convention is now a patriotic service. We need this conference of workers to meet the exigencies of war. We need the inspiration of Christian fellowship as we plan for further defense of our country through our organization. Come with prayerful hearts, expecting this to be the greatest convention in our history.

59 YEARS OLD, HALE AND HARDY

And Praises Cardui Which She Says Pulled Her Through a Most Dangerous Period.

Mercer, Ky.—"About 15 years ago," writes Mrs. W. T. Ball, of this place, "I began suffering with change of life, and was suffering very much. . . I began taking Cardui after having suffered for 3 years, and I was dreadfully nervous. Hardly felt like doing my work. Couldn't sleep well at nights. However, after several doses of Cardui I saw an improvement and in a few days I could do my work with ease and in two weeks I was able to walk six miles and went to the street fair at Central City and enjoyed myself. After using two bottles, I got my natural health and strength and it pulled me through that most dangerous of periods in a woman's life with no trouble or suffering.

I am now hale and hardy, and was 59 years old the 11th of this month. I will never cease praising Cardui, which did me so much good. It also saved my daughter's life when she had such a dreadful spell. . ."

Over 40 years in use, Cardui has proven its efficacy as "the woman's tonic." If you are weak, and rundown, and suffer from symptoms of troubles peculiar to women, give Cardui a trial.—(adv.)

PRICES OF STEEL SLASHED IN HALF

United States, Allies and Public Share in Reductions—War Board to Distribute Steel Output.

Washington, September 24.—Steel prices in the United States were cut in half today when President Wilson approved a scale of quotations fixed in a voluntary agreement made by producers with the war industries board. The general public, as well as the American and allied governments, will share in the reductions, which will go into immediate effect, and the agreement provides that producers shall not reduce wages.

The prices will obtain until January 1, 1918, to be revised then if investigation shows they are inequitable.

The entire output of American steel plants will be distributed under supervision of the war board, which, exercising the powers of priority of transportation given the government by congress, will apportion it in a way best to meet the country's war requirements.

The new prices and the reduction they represent in present quotations follow:

Steel bars at Pittsburg and Chicago, $2.90 per hundredweight. The recent price was $5.50.

Iron ore: Basis, lower lake ports: Price agreed upon, $5.05 per gross ton, no change.

Coke, Connellsville, price agreed upon $6.00 net ton; recent price $16.00 a ton; a reduction of 62.5 per cent.

Based on Cost of Production.

The price agreement was reached after months of negotiations between steel producers and government officials. The prices were based on cost of production estimates made by the federal trade commission after an investigation conducted at the president's direction.

The chief point of difference that developed in the prolonged conferences was the question of whether the public and the allied governments should share in the prices to be fixed. President Wilson has insisted that they should, and the administration has supported the Pomerene bill now pending in congress giving the government power to fix iron and steel prices generally. Inclusion of public and the allies in the voluntary reductions will still demands made in some government quarters that the steel output be requisitioned under the national defense act, but the Pomerene bill will be pushed, it is understood, that it may be enforced in event the voluntary agreement does not work out satisfactorily.

Officials in close touch with the situation said tonight the prices approved by the president were liberal and would allow fair profits to all steel plants. Some of the larger concerns, they said, would make handsome profits at the prices named and, production, they declared, should be stimulated accordingly.

In arriving at fair prices for both producer and consumer the great problem has been to set figures permitting small mills to produce without a loss and at the same time prevent the larger plants from taking too great a profit. At one time a plan was considered by which mills would have been paid varying costs, based on cost of production and capital investment, the entire output of all mills to be sold in a pool at one price. This was abandoned as too complicated and too difficult of administration.

Virtually the same purpose will be accomplished, officials said tonight, in the operation of the war tax bill, which will take for the government a large of excess profits.

Cost of Steel Plates.

The cost of producing steel plates in some of the larger mills is now about $35 to $36 a ton, according to the testimony of Joseph E. Davies, vice chairman of the federal trade commission, before the senate committee, which is considering the Pomerene bill. This will give these mills a profit of $30 a ton under the price of $65, approved by the president. In the smaller mills, according to Commissioner Davies' testimony, the cost runs much higher. Ninety per cent of the plants, Mr. Davies said at the time, could sell plates at $58 and make a profit.

Nothing is said in the white house announcement as to contracts now in force, but it is believed they will stand except in instances where the war board decides a manufacturer's product is not essential for war purposes and that he must replenish a part of his requirements for more vital industries.

It is the intention of the goverinment to use to the utmost its powers to control steel distribution. This may mean in some instances, it was said tonight, the shutting down of entire industries where it appears the steel these industries are using can be used more advantageously elsewhere. Building construction and other industries that use steel, which already have felt the pinch of the steel shortage, will feel it still more sharply as the war progresses.

The war industries board in an order issued in transportation of iron and steel and other products be given to them in the order of their importance as related to the conduct of the war? Class A comprising war work, comes first; Class B, comprising industries indirectly related to the war, second, and Class C, comprising all other industries, last.

The reductions will not affect navy purchases for a time, as Secretary Daniels already has contracts for 600,000 tons of steel at prices lower than those named today. This steel will be sufficient to carry through the 1916-1917 building program. The navy prices are $50 a short ton for shapes and $58 a short ton for plates.

Future navy contracts will be made at the higher prices. Secretary Daniels said today he was satisfied with the new prices for the future, inasmuch as the public will share in them.

PRICES FAIR, SAYS GARY.

New York, September 24.—Elbert H. Gary, as president of the American Iron and Steel Institute, issued the following statement here today in regard to the steel prices agreed upon between the government and the manufacturers:

"The base prices for iron ore, pig iron and the leading steel productions in which the government is specifically interested, as fixed by the president, while much lower than the prevailing market prices and considerably below the expectations of the manufacturers, yet, on the whole, taking everything into consideration, I believe are fair and reasonable and come within the conditions named by the president in his proclamation issued last June.

"These prices were probably made in accordance with the recommendation of the war industries board, who gave a patient hearing to the steel representatives an dmade an exhaustive study of the whole subject.

"While the manufacturers may feel a sense of disappointment they nevertheless appreciate the courteous and frank treatment on the part of the board and they will cheerfully acquiesce and do everything possible to maintain production to the maximum so long as the war continues and they will not decrease the wages of their war knew under present conditions."

Hoover Has Spent $50,606.

Washington, September 24.—Expenses of conducting the food administration from August 10 to August 31 were $50,606, as shown in the first report made to the senate today by Administrator Hoover. The law requires a monthly statement.

IF YOUR EARS RING WITH HEAD NOISES

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 ounces of granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Any one who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

"There's a Reason"

Sideshow Features Make Big Hit With "Johnnie" at First Circus

NEW PARADE ROUTE.

On account of the rain, which interfered with Monday morning's parade route, the two-mile Sells-Floto circus street pageant will again be seen in Atlanta's business district this forenoon—but over a new route.

The parade will leave the Jackson street show grounds at 10:30 o'clock this morning and proceed on Auburn avenue to Peachtree street, on Peachtree street to Ivy, on Ivy to Auburn, on Auburn to the grounds. Performances at 2:15 and 8:15 o'clock this afternoon and tonight.

By Beverly Randolph.

Dear Jimmy: I went to the Sells-Floto circus today with Ma and Pa and Ma told me to write to you and tell you about it. Jimmy, it was great! I saw a two-headed man with four ears, four eyes, two mouths and two necks, and Doc Palmer said he was a Mexican. Doc Palmer is manager of the exhibits extraordinary, which Pa says is just a polite name for side-shows, and I guess it is, because Doc Palmer introduced me to "Red," the politest monkey I ever saw. I shook hands with "Red" and he shook hands with me, and tried to kiss me, and like to scared Ma to death.

Pa was grumpy and said he'd never kiss me again if I had let the orang-outang, which Pa says it is, kiss me. He was mad because Ma made him take me and her to the circus. This morning, Pa says, "No, I am not going to the circus, and if your going depends on me, you aren't going, either."

And Pa Has to Yield.

So Ma said we wanted to go, and it did look like he could just do this one little thing for us, and who ever heard of a boy that didn't want to go to the circus, and that Pa had to go with us just this once.

So Pa says, "Allright, allright, woman, have your way just this once."

Doc Palmer took us through the side-shows first and showed us the armless wonder writing with his feet, and the Oklahoma giant, who stood 8 feet 2 inches in his stockings. I stood up alongside of him and gee! Jimmy, he was as big as a house, believe me, he was.

And there was the python, which Doc Palmer said was almost thirty feet long, and bigger around than a bell-boy, and the tattooed man, with pictures all over him, and when I asked Pa if it hurt to put the pictures on, he said, "Where there is no sense, there is no feeling," and Doc Palmer looked sidewise at Pa and said, "sorter getting grumpy in your old age, aren't you?" and Pa said, "Well, things had changed some since they had met," and Ma looked flushed and suddenly went walking away.

Well, we heard the band playing in the big tent and Doc Palmer said he had to leave us, and we had better go in and get some seats for the big show. When we got seated a fellow came up calling out, "Come on, folks, get your nice honey-coated, sugar-coated popcorn," and Pa bought some and leaned back and sort of sighed and said, "Just like it uster be, Ma."

In the first ring was a guy Pa said was Melnott, the wizard of the unsupported ladder, and Lou Hersey, the man who ties himself in a sailor's knot with a twist of the wrist, but was looking at a lady who came down the aisle to take her seat and two clowns looked at her and said something she didn't like and she slapped his face. Pa said it was true to life, only she was one of the Melnott troupe of funmakers. Then forty whole clowns came out and things got going so fast that I couldn't see everything, and Pa says, "Just keep your eyes on the middle ring, because it was there that Frazier, the only heel and toe man in the ring would perform." Pa seemed to know all about them.

Some Trapese Stunts.

Frazier swung way up in the air on a trapeze by his heels, and then he changed to his hands, and from his hands back to his heels, while the trapeze was swinging like fun, Jimmy. Then some elephants came in, and a girl all dressed in short dresses and red stockings sat on the elephant's knee while he raised her way up in the air, and Pa said, "Look there. That is Rhoda Royal, wife of my old friend, Rhoda Royal, the owner of more than one hundred trained animal acts playing all over the vaudeville circuits of this country."

Mrs. Rhoda Royal rode a horse, and after that the elephants came out and did some funny things. The band played something and the elephant stood on his hind legs and wiggled himself and Pa said it was the "Hooche Cooche," and where in the world did Gentry get that act from with the elephant that does the dance without moving the feet, and Ma looked grave and said perhaps it was time to go.

But Pa wouldn't go until the last act was over, and when I asked Ma if I could come back and see it at night, Ma said certainly not, but Pa whispered in my ear, "We'll sneak off and go together."

But Ma said, "No, you won't, you old rascal. You'll be trying all those stunts at home and breaking up all the furniture."

Pa just grinned. "After all," he said, "beneath the tinsel and tumult of the trouper's life there are sad little spots.

"There is that fellow in the trapeze troupe who did the expert stunts. Two months ago he was told that he had tuberculosis, and he won't quit the show because he says he would rather die with the circus than live without it."

There is a performance tonight at 8 o'clock and Pa and I are going to try to see it, because Mr. Gentry, the manager of the show, gave Pa two tickets as we came out and asked him to come back.

COLLEAGUES LASH HOWARD AND HEFLIN

Georgian and Alabamian Denounced in House for Alleged Charges That Some Congressmen Received German Money.

Washington, September 24.—Representative Heflin, of Alabama, replying in the house today to an attack upon him by Representative Norton, of North Dakota, denied that he had given a newspaper interview in which he was quoted as saying that he could name thirteen or fourteen members of the house and senate who had acted suspiciously and that he had heard a story that a card room was maintained in Washington, where pro-German and pacifists could get money.

The house was thrown into an uproar while members discussed the disclosure that Count Bernstorff, while German ambassador here, asked his government to authorize expenditure of $50,000 to influence congress.

Mr. Norton declared that Mr. Heflin should have made a full investigation before he openly charged members with corruption.

Heflin and Howard Must Prove.

Mr. Norton quoted Mr. Heflin as saying in the interview that he could point to the men in the south "who I believe received money," and that their prosperous appearance indicated it. He also quoted Representative Howard, of Georgia, as saying that part of this money was paid directly and that he thought he could pick out the men who got it. Mr. Norton announced that he purposed to introduce a resolution requiring Heflin and Howard to prove their statements "or submit to the punishment they well deserve."

In reply Representative Heflin denied the interview was correct. He said he did not know any member who had received German money. Mr. Howard also denied making any such statement. Mr. Howard, in his denial, said he did not say he thought members of congress were getting German money and that they looked more prosperous than when they came here.

Representative Goodwin, Arkansas, asked Mr. Heflin if he had said in an interview by a reporter for The Washington Post that at a gambling house in Washington members of congress earned easy money if they were on the German side.

Heflin Makes Partial Denial.

"I made no such references on the floor of this house," replied Mr. Heflin, "and The Post said I made them on the floor."

Mr. Heflin explained that he did not know a single congressman who ever had received German money in any way and he did not charge that any of them had received it, merely suspected some because of their actions. If the house should decide to investigate his charges, he said, he would be glad to name the suspects.

"I have in mind the names of the men to whom I referred," said Mr. Heflin, "but if I named them you probably would strike out my words.

"I haven't said that any member got any money from the Von Bernstorff fund. I haven't said that any place, on this floor or elsewhere. What I did say was that there were rumors that there was a gambling house in Washington, run by a German, where pacifists and slackers and others in sympathy with the German cause won easily.

"If the house decides to name an investigating committee and asks me to name the men that I think have not been loyal and have not been and are not now standing by the commander-in-chief, I'll name them. I can't prove anything. The intrigues of the German government cannot be found out easily, but a tree is known by its fruit."

"Name the Men."

Wild demands to "name the men!" and cries of "Who are they?" frequently interrupted Heflin. When he declared that he was seeking only to do his patriotic duty and not seeking publicity, shouts of "No! oh, no!" came from many parts of the chamber.

Once the house agreed, on motion of Representative Little, of Kansas, to permit Mr. Heflin to proceed in his own way for ten minutes if he would name the men he suspected, but he declined the offer.

A resolution by Representative Fordney, republican, of Michigan, designed to provide for a house investigation of Heflin's remarks was referred to the rules committee by Speaker Clark. What action will be taken on it is problematical.

Trust Me! Try Dodson's Liver Tone! Calomel Harms Liver and Bowels

Read my guarantee! Liven your liver and bowels and get straightened up without taking sickening calomel. Don't lose a day's work!

There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when 50 cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone—a perfect substitute for calomel.

It is a pleasant, vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and can not salivate.

Children and grown folks can take Dodson's Liver Tone, because it is perfectly harmless.

Calomel is a dangerous drug. It is mercury and attacks your bones. Take a dose of nasty calomel today and you will feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone instead and you will wake up feeling great. No more billiousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than horrible calomel your money is waiting for you.

WITH PRIMARY NEAR, CANDIDATES GET BUSY

Warmest Race Will Be in 9th Ward—Bentley Charges "Frame-Up."

There was one thing Monday's "bit" of raw weather didn't chill—that was the ardor of Atlanta's politicians who are seeking nomination for office in the white primary on October 17.

The race for alderman from the ninth ward has already begun to attract city-wide attention as the old Beavers' issue is being injected into the race as an issue. As the primary will be held two days after former Chief of Police Beavers is scheduled to get his re-trial before the police board the issue may prove a vital one.

Andy R. King, chairman of the board which "ousted" the former chief, and who voted against Beavers, is opposing Warren D. White, former police commissioner, who voted to keep him in office.

Another exciting race in which the entire city is interested is that for alderman of the second ward. L. Press Huddleston, chairman of the exemption board for the second ward, is opposing Harvey Hatcher, member of the school board.

C. P. Bentley, candidate for council in the ninth ward, whose check in payment for his entrance fee was garnisheed shortly after it had been placed in the hands of the city executive committee Saturday, declared Monday that the whole affair was a political "frame-up."

James P. Belcher, secretary of the executive committee, was served with the garnishment granted by the municipal court. Hearing on the garnishment was set for October 15, two days before the primary.

The subcommittee of the city executive committee will meet Wednesday to take action on the garnishment.

"So far as I know I owe no one," said Mr. Bentley. "It is a political 'frame-up' by my political enemies, designed to embarrass me in my race for council. I will fight it to the last ditch."

Rumors that Walter Mote, who entered at the last hour the race for councilman from the fifth ward, opposing Councilman Leonard Bell, had withdrawn from the field, were denied Monday.

FORSYTH THEATER NOW RESEMBLES NEW HOUSE

Elaborate Decorative Effect Greets Patrons When Movie Home Opens for Season.

When the Forsyth theater reopened for the season yesterday afternoon, after a summer's vacation, it was hard for its patrons to tell which they admired most—the elaborate decorative effect, or the beauty of the picture—"A Daughter of the Gods," with Annette Kellermann in the leading role. And as a result there will be many Atlantans who will make a second visit to be sure they have missed no detail of picture or new "movie" home.

The house has been turned into a veritable screen palace, in which the decorators have shown the wonders that can be achieved from a combination of old rose and French gray, with high lightings of gold for good measure.

The theatergoer who looks for the conventional electrical fixtures will look in vain. They have been superseded by novel designs—lamp shades of various designs covering them all from direct view. Again the old rose tones are in evidence, and medallion photographs help to increase their beauty.

The Old Rose Tint.

All the ceiling fixtures have been covered with cap shades, and the old rose again. All the ladings on the balcony have been treated with drapetts and the floor lamps have shades of many tones, some old rose, others gold, then a mulberry, and then a unique combination of blue and gold.

Here and there are cheval mirrors, and cozy seats to lend atmosphere to the scene. The house hangings are of retonne of flowered rose designs. In the boxes the lamp shades are of the octagon shape—a beautiful effect.

Just inside the doors, downstairs, here is a handsome chandelier, of the octagon design. The decorative scheme is even carried out in the lobby, to one side of which—in the place formerly devoted to a flower shop—has been established the most elaborate lounging and rest room for ladies in the south. The old rose tones, the arbor effect, with chrysanthemums, a handsome Indian rug, which blends with the old rose tones—all make it a most attractive place. Within a few days changes will be made which will make it even more beautiful.

A Beautiful Picture.

Rarely is Atlanta given the opportunity to enjoy an attraction of such merit as that of "A Daughter of the Gods," the picture which cost William Fox a million dollars in the making, and which has set the pace for all other film productions.

Oriental sultans, princes, jealous favorites, lovers, elves, gnomes, mermaids, sea nymphs and warriors make up the cast, while water falls, great and dangerous rapids, pools with snapping crocodiles, tall towers and towering walls, filled with fighters, are a part of the many scenes presented.

The story is that of the love of a beautiful sea maiden and a prince, and their many tribulations, which at last in fairyland end happily. It gives Annette Kellermann wonderful opportunities in the display of physical pulchritude, as well as of swimming skill and daring, and for those who love battle—well, there are scenes enough to suit everybody.

The new house and the opening attractions are a credit to Jake Wells, who has worked untiringly in preparing the theater for the opening. Richard Tant, well-known theater man, and a veteran in the Wells service, is the manager.

LOAN OF $35,000,000 FOR GREAT BRITAIN

Washington, September 24.—The government today advanced $35,000,000 to Great Britain, bringing the total advanced that country thus far up to $1,190,000,000 and the total of all credits to the allies up to $2,426,400,000.

DEFENDS AUTOPSY ON MRS. BINGHAM

Graham Kenan, Relative of Dead Woman, Says Facts Justified Exhumation--Results of Autopsy Not Yet Known.

Wilmington, N. C., September 24.—Graham Kenan, a Wilmington lawyer, came forward today as spokesman for the relatives of Mrs. Robert Worth Bingham, who had her body disinterred and an autopsy performed at Oakdale cemetery here early last Tuesday morning, and defended this action which Judge Bingham, her husband, termed a "ghastly drama."

Both Mr. Kenan, who was a cousin and brother-in-law of Mrs. Bingham, and local health officers indicated that the facts were substantially as stated in the statement made last night in Louisville by Judge Bingham; that the autopsy was performed and the vital organs removed and sent to New York for examinaton. The result of this examination has not yet been made known.

County Health Officer Nesbitt admitted today for the first time that he had issued the permit for exhuming the body and had maintained silence at the request of Mr. Kenan. He explained that he had unhesitatingly told all he knew of the affair to Shepard Bryan, attorney for Judge Bingham, who called on him Saturday.

Physicians Advised Autopsy.

No direct reference to Judge Bingham's statement was made by Mr. Kenan in his statement, but inferentially he denied there was anything surreptitious about the affair. He declared that "the facts and circumstances relating to Mrs. Bingham's illness and death as disclosed to members of her family justified them in and made it their duty to consult leading physicians who advised that an autopsy be performed." He said this had been done "in the usual and regular way in the broad daylight by the best experts obtainable." He added that all interested may be assured that any investigation would be conducted with absolute fairness to all parties and asked the public not to jump at conclusions based on facts now in their possession.

Present at the autopsy besides the physicians, Mr. Kenan said, were two women, a trained nurse and a stenographer, but he declined to give their names.

The county health board held a special meeting this afternoon and instructed the health officer that in future all transactions of his office must be open to the public.

Statement by Kenan.

Mr. Kenan in his statement says:

"The facts and circumstances relating to Mrs. Bingham's illness and death as disclosed to members of her family justified them in, and made it their duty, to consult leading physicians, who advised that an autopsy be performed. This has been done in the usual and regular way in the broad open daylight by the best experts obtainable, but the results of their investigation have not yet been made known to the family.

"All interested may be assured that any investigation which has been or may be made, has been and will be conducted in a proper and legitimate manner, and with absolute fairness to all parties concerned.

"The feelings of the family naturally made them desire to have as little publicity as possible given the matter.

"I hope the public will be fair enough not to jump at any conclusions based on the facts now in their possession."

Statement by Health Officer.

County Health Officer Nesbit's statement follows:

"With reference to the issuance of a permit for the disinterment of the body of Mrs. Bingham, I desire to say that I issued such a permit on Tuesday morning, September 18, at the request of Mr. Graham Kenan. This kind of permit is issued for the sole purpose of protecting the public health against possible danger that might arise from the disinterment of a body which would disseminate disease. It had no other status.

"The reason for this disinterment, as stated by Mr. Kenan, was that the family of the deceased were anxious to discover, if possible, the cause of death, the matter not having been settled to their satisfaction. The statements made by Mr. Kenan were supported by his family physician, who was present at the interview, and they requested that I refrain from giving any newspaper publicity to the matter.

"No person other than a newspaper man had asked me for any information concerning the disinterment of Mrs. Bingham's body, excepting Mr. Shepard Bryan, the legal representative of Judge Bingham, to whom I unhesitatingly told all the facts pertaining to the disinterment of the body that were in my possession.

"I was not present at the disinterment and autopsy on Mrs. Bingham's body and have no personal knowledge of that occurrence, and had no other connection with the matter."

Get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store, pour a little into your hand and rub well into the scalp with the finger tips. By morning most, if not all, of this awful scurf will have disappeared. Two or three applications will destroy every bit of dandruff; stop scalp itching and falling hair.—(adv.)

LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE IF SICK CROSS, FEVERISH

When constipated or bilious give "California Syrup of Figs."

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative;" they love its delicious taste and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—(adv.)

FOOD SOURING IN STOMACH CAUSES INDIGESTION, GAS

"Pape's Diapepsin" relieves stomach distress in five minutes.

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sick, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented and turned sour; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin to help neutralize acidity and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have dyspepsia. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps the stomach sweetened and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin, which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it stops fermentation and acidity and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.—(adv.)

GERMAN PROMISES.

"You may be sure," cabled the Argentina minister at Berlin to his government regarding Germany's reply to the Argentine note, "the German government will faithfully keep its promises."

It is not clear upon what the minister bases such a presumption with regard to a government which boasts that a treaty of the most solemn character is merely a "scrap of paper."

Certainly there has been nothing in the diplomatic conduct of the German government during the last three and a half years that gives any such assurance. In truth, the German government is notorious for its utter disregard for its diplomatic pledges.

And unless the Berlin throne has undergone a diametric change of conscience during the last few weeks—and which the world-at-large knows nothing about—Argentina, or any other country that pins any faith upon German promises, will be leaning upon a slender reed if it depends upon Berlin's integrity to keep its word.

America's experience alone should be enough, it would seem, to make even the most credulous of nations chary about placing reliance in German promises. For almost three years this government adhered to its original policy of neutrality simply through trust that each succeeding violation by Germany of its diplomatic promises and pledges would be the last.

But we at last wearied of Prussian treachery, deceit, breaches of integrity and treaty violations.

And that is what Argentina will eventually have to do if it stakes anything vital upon German fidelity.

The disavowal, by the kaiser of his minister's "sink and leave no trace" message may placate Argentina for the time being; but sooner or later—when German expediency may be served—it will find, just as the United States did—that Germany's word is one thing and German expediency quite another; and that the "sink and leave no trace" policy is still alive, disavowed in words only and not in the heart.

It looks as though war between Argentina and Germany is inevitable—if not now, at a later day, after Argentina, too, shall have got its fill of Germany's hollow promises.

WORTH WHILE WORK.

When a public official sets conscientiously to the task of inspiring the rural boys and girls of his community with enthusiasm for production of things worth while—like hogs, for instance—he is doing something which merits hearty encouragement.

That is what T. G. Chastain, Fulton county farm demonstration agent, and his assistant, Carl Wallace, are doing through the medium of their pig clubs plan; and their success, as described in Neil Freeman's "Pigs Is Pigs" story in last Sunday's Constitution, is indicated by the fact that 100 pigs reared by Fulton county pig club youngsters will be entered for premiums at the Southeastern fair this fall, as against only thirty exhibited a year ago, when the movement was in its infancy.

Get a boy's interest and you've got the boy!

There is an old saying to the effect that when a boy is whistling he is not plotting deviltry. The same is equally true of a girl, and it applies as well to raising pigs and corn and other growing things as to whistling.

More than that, while boys and girls are learning the fine points of farm animals or of vegetable crops, and how to produce them, their minds are not only too preoccupied to concoct mischief, but are being stored with knowledge that will be valuable throughout the years to come; and the young artisans, while developing their talents toward a useful end, are also adding to community thrift and their own intrinsic welfare.

For example, Miss Freeman cites a 12-year-old pig club girl who saved six little motherless pigs from starvation and made valuable porkers of them. Another pig club member, a boy, whose father advanced to him the price of a $75 sow, sold two pigs from the first litter for $25, and has eight remaining, which weigh from 135 to 140 pounds each, and which later in the season will each be worth "on the block" from $35 to $50. In other words, this boy will clear in the neighborhood of $200 on an original investment of $75!

Still another pig club lad has produced a hog which, at 20 months old, weighs 800 pounds; two other boys, brothers, a pig which they made grow at the rate of two pounds a day! The son of County Commissioner Mills has produced one nine months old which "tips the beam" at 312 pounds, and two Lakewood boys have a young sow which weighs 500 pounds.

Thus it goes, with boys and girls all over the county—scores of them—vieing with each other to produce the best pigs and win this fall the prizes which will be hung up by Fulton county. They are being personally instructed in the various qualities of the different strains of swine; the art of judging; scientific care and feeding; the best methods of preparing their produce for market, etc. And in doing that they are storing up future bank accounts for themselves, and making for better agriculture in their community.

Perhaps equally beneficent are the corn clubs and the calf clubs which Messrs. Chastain and Wallace are also promoting, and as a result of which they have twenty-seven Fulton county boys and girls engaged in preparing pure-bred Shorthorns and Holsteins for exhibition this fall, and for subsequent use as the nucleli of valuable cattle herds; and twenty-five of the corn club members have each grown a minimum of an acre of corn this year.

"These little Fulton county farmers and stock-raisers," says Miss Freeman—

> "have worked hard all the year and have given their personal attention to every detail connected with their work. And they are anxiously awaiting the opening of the fair, so that they can see how their prize offerings are going to stack up against those of other club members.
>
> "They take great pride in their ventures and are naturally thrilled at the thought of walking off with the prize, which will not mean nearly so much on account of its pecuniary value as it will mean in the way of an encouraging word—a satisfying 'well done.'"

And while these enterprising county farm demonstrators are making for better farming and improved live stock in Fulton county, they also—and which is of far more importance in the long run—are cultivating character in the boys and girls and raising the standard of the future manhood and womanhood of the community. They are making for better citizenship as well as for better calves and pigs.

That is work worth while.

WHY NOT DENTAL STUDENTS?

Soon after our entry into the world war the announcement was made in Washington—apparently on good authority—that it was the war department's desire that all medical and dental students should continue their studies, and that certainly they would not be called into service until after graduation. Later it was announced that medical students would not be exempted.

Subsequently, however, General Crowder issued an order to the effect that hospital interns and fourth, third and second-year medical students who were called to the colors under the selective draft act might enlist in the enlisted reserve corps and be permitted to complete their courses; but, contrary to the general belief, that order did not include students of dentistry nor dental interns in hospitals. And thus far efforts to bring about the inclusion of dental students as a part of the medical service have met with failure, and many dentists of tomorrow are being prepared for line service, at the expense of a profession that is already overtaxed to meet the requirements of the world.

England, France and Canada now admit that in the early stages of the war they made a mistake in accepting dental and medical students for line service. They are regretting it, because they are now short of both medical surgeons and dentists; and as a matter of fact they are suffering greatly for want of dentists to care for both military and civilian needs. Today in this country the supply of dentists and of dental students is less than the demand; and it would seem that a policy of taking young dentists out of their profession and of invading the ranks of advanced dental students for trench fighting timber is fully as shortsighted and as deleterious to the national welfare, present and future, as would be the policy of conscripting doctors and medical students for similar service.

The two professions are twin brothers. As a health conservation profession dentistry is as important as medicine. And it would seem that, in recruiting an army, the government should draw no line of distinction between the two, and any privilege or special recognition that applies to the one should apply also to the other.

If it is wise—and it is—for the war department, fearing a shortage of physicians in the future, to grant immunity from service to medical students pending the completion of their courses, it would be equally wise to broaden the scope of the order so as to include dentistry students.

The idea is to can the kaiser and throw away the can opener.

The optimistic view is that when the Russians run it is merely to keep the enemy busy trying to head 'em off.

Coal is high, and if we don't watch out after a while we won't have bread to burn.

In the successful war-drive the driver doesn't crack his whip for the noise it makes.

The kaiser wants "peace, with honor." He has been needing honor for a long time.

When the Fire Talked.

I.

Think I hear the Fire say:
"Glad the Summer's gone away;
For it made me wait so long
For the singing of my song;
For the children, rosy-bright,
Laughing in my dancing light!
For the tales of Long Ago,
Dearer as they older grow;
For the folks that in my gleams
Read the riddle of their dreams!

II.

"Homeless now the chill winds roam,
But the fireplace is "Home."
When without the shadows throng
Here I sing the sweet home-song;
Here's the place of perfect rest,
Child upon the mother's breast;
Lovers young and lovers old,
Sweet communion here they hold.
Welcome, skies of wintry gray,—
Glad the Summer's gone away!"

The Busy Round.

The world's in a hurry:
Don't ask it to wait
Whilst you're clickin' the latch
On the lazy home-gate;
It has time for the running,
But no time to stay
Till the stars come, for dreamers
To dream them away.

It's "Around and around,"
In a race worth the winning,
For all of your sorrow
And sighing and sinning;
And it's making the race
With the grace that is given,
To land you at last
On the high shores of Heaven.

His Object.

The London Chronicle tells this one of a new and ready recruit:

"Although only 17, he had come to 'join up' and was in the recruiting office answering some questions the sergeant was putting to him.

"'Look here, my man,' said the sergeant, 'are you willing to die for your country?'

"The recruit opened his eyes with astonishment. 'No, sir,' he replied. 'I'm joining up to make a German die for his!'"

A Missouri Verdict.

The Kansas City Star says that Herbert Caveness, in The Chanute Tribune, tells of a trial he once attended in Missouri where a man was accused of assault. The state introduced as evidence, alleging they were some of the weapons used, a rail, an ax, a pair of tongs, a saw and a rifle. The defendant's counsel exhibited, as the other man's fighting implements, a scythe, a pitchfork, a pistol and a hoe. The jury's verdict was, according to Mr. Caveness: "Resolved, That we, the jury, would have given $1 to have seen the fight."

"All With the Man."

A Thomas county poet writes of home prosperity in The Thomasville Times-Enterprise:

"Here is to the man who can, if he wills,
Prosper in the valleys of the Thomas county hills.
He can have cattle in the pasture and hogs in the pen,
Sheep on the range and wheat in the bin.
Fine horses in the stable and money in his pocket,
A baby in the cradle and a pretty wife to rock it!"

Some folks are so contrary that when one brother whirls in and prays for rain, another straightway puts up a petition for "dry," which must be mighty confusin' to the listening angels.

September Days.

Now September's bracing breezes
Greet your lungs and fill them full;
Now the dew is on the fodder,
And the fodder's ripe to pull;
While the harvest blades are clinking
'Mid the fragrance of the hay,
Sweet into your senses sinking—
Fall steals summer's heart away!

Cornucopias of glory
Brings September, blushing fair,
E'er King Frost comes cold and hoary,
Making all things brown and bare.
Sweet September, green and golden,
We remember while with you
All the flowers in gardens olden—
Diamonds, dreaming of the dew.

Comes the fall!—the corn hangs heavy,
And the cotton's thick and white;
Where of quail there's many a bevy
Whirring woodward in their flight.
'Tis the farm!—no gongs are clanging—
Hear the tinkling cattle bells!
On the hills a haze o'erhanging
"Indian Summer" now foretells.

Summer's roses, sweet September,
Pale, but fragrant still, you bring;
Birds still sing as they remember
Nests they builded in the spring.
How we love you, dear September—,
Bright as heaven's burnished dome;
Soon we'll dream o'er many an ember
How you brought us "Harvest Home"!

Fair Little Lads.

Fair little lads who play so free,
So full of childish joy;
You take me back through surging years
To when I was a boy.

Would I might feel your wonder now
At things called commonplace;
Would I could see the world again
With childhood's joyous face.

The time before I knew the name,
Or what it meant to roam;
When my sweetheart was my Mother,
And castles were my home.

The age when every budding rose
Seemed just to bloom for me;
When birds would always stop their song
To nod from every tree.

But for one moment let me live,
And feel the childish joy,——
That made all the world my playmate—
Back when I was a boy.

ALABAMA HAS VERY LITTLE COTTON BUT ALL OTHER CROPS ARE FINE

If the cotton mill operators get any cotton this year they will have to pay high prices for it, according to Robert L. Adams, of Atlanta, who operates a farm in Alabama.

"Cotton will go to 30 cents and cotton seed to $75 a ton by Thanksgiving," stated Mr. Adams on Monday.

"Cotton-planting on a large scale has been eliminated in Alabama," said Mr. Adams, "and diversified farming has taken its place. Corn, peas, potatoes, velvet beans and other products have forever eliminated cotton as the mainstay of the farmer, and the boll weevil in Alabama—apparently to stay.

"Even of the little cotton planted in Alabama the boll weevil has taken his share. There is no middle or top crop at all, and large gins are absolutely without anything to do. One manager of a ginning plant told me that next year would find him in another business.

"However, this lack of cotton does not mean that Alabama has not good crops. The fields are heavily laden with every imaginable thing to eat; barns are overflowing with grain and hay. On on 800-acre plantation I planted 35 acres in cotton, but now I regret that a single seed was placed by me.

"Cattle in Alabama have improved 100 per cent," said Mr. Adams, "and I attribute this to the fact that the state now compels cattle owners to dip their cattle in state-owned vats stationed conveniently in the various counties. The law is a great blessing, as, in addition to the satisfaction of getting rid of the tick on general grounds, they require less feed, give better milk and make better beef. Any cattle owner who objects to such a law being passed in his state is robbing himself, as cows so treated bring much higher prices."

"BATTLE OF ATLANTA" IS IN GREAT DANGER, 'CLARES THE OLD KUNNEL

The Old Kunnel edged his way through the circus parade crowds yesterday and hied himself under a store awning to get out of the rain. A score of others had done the same thing.

"Reminds me," volunteered the Old Kunnel," o' th' old days when th' circus drifted into th' old Edgewood avenue theater back in the late eighties. Don't suppose many o' you boys remember that show, but it sho was a humdinger! Th' old theater, y'know, used to be back in 'Edgewood avenue near Butler street, somewhere along where th' car barn now stands.

"That old circus started th' Gress Zoo, now at Grant Park. G. V. Gress, one time a prom'nent banker here, bought the circus animals and presented them t' th' city an' their descendants ar' now out in those Grant park cages.

"Gress was th' man, by th' way, who was respons'ble f'r puttin' th' 'Battle of Atlanta' in the cyclorama building out near the Zoo. He bo't it originally from Paul Atkinson, who brought th' original 'Battle o' Gettysburg' painting to Atlanta and showed 'em both in the Edgewood avenue buildin' where th' circus was held. Gress gave th' painting to th' city as a gift and all he asked in return was that th' municipal authorities put up an adequate buildin' to house the paintin'.

"Say, it's an outrage th' way th' city's takin' chances on that picture gettin' burned up. That old ramshackle buildin' the paintin's in is 'bout ready to fall apart and, believe me, if a spark ever gets within a block of it, there won't be any buildin' or paintin' either. It's made o' old Georgia pine and it's a regular tinder box, with absolutely no fire protection. I call it a disgrace to th' city of Atlanta!

"Seems t' me Gress paid Atkinson 'bout $10,000 for that paintin' and 'twas well worth it, considerin' it was done by one of America's greatest scenic artists—P. Fred Rothermel, o' Philadelphia. He also did the Gettysburg picture an' was working fer a long time on a Vicksburg paintin', but somehow he couldn't quite hook up the historic details of the Vicksburg fight an' its artificial canals, and he jest quit doin' it. His 'Battle of Atlanta,' at Grant Park, is considered one o' th' most accurate paintin's of its sort ever made. Soldiers who were in th' fight have been struck at th' remarkable familiarity o' th' scenes and incidents pictured. To my mind, it's one o' th' city's greatest assets, yet the authorities have virtually abandoned it to its fate an' seem to 'care no more 'bout it than so much junk.

"Since th' city's been chargin' 10 cents to visitors for a peep at th' picture, there's been collected enough money to put up three new buildings. Yet I'm told not a nickel o' this money has gone into improvements at the cyclorama buildin'. Why, there were times recently when the rain jest poured in on th' paintin' and damaged it so much an artist had to be hired t' retouch it. Th' whole place is a dilapidated fire-trap, that's all; yet councils sit by and year after year refuse absolutely t' raise a hand t' help save that remarkable picture. There isn't a power on earth that can save the paintin' once a spark gets inside that ole building. And what's t' prevent someone droppin' a cigarette butt or somethin' an' setting it ablaze!

"I'm told that 'bout $5,000 a year is taken in at th' gate and turned over t' th' city. Seems t' me th' people o' Atlanta ought t' force th' authorities t' take some action and take it quickly. 'Cause if they don't, I'll bet my old straw hat it'll be gone this time next year! If th' city won't do it, let th' people get together an' raise a fund t' build. Admission receipts will repay th' outlay an' th' great picture will then be saved frum th' destruction that's surely comin' unless somethin's done RIGHT NOW!

"It's a disgrace th' way th' thing's been hangin' fire all this time. Isn't it worth th' money as a tribute t' th' soldiers who fought so nobly t' save th' town, aside frum its value as a paintin'! Makes me sore ev'ry time—

"'Parade's comin' back again,'" shouted a youngster, an' the Kunnel's listeners "beat it" t' hav' another look.

The Old Kunnel followed along.

WARREN KIMSEY GUEST OF HONOR OF THE AD MEN

Warren Kimsey, singing conductor sent to Camp Gordon by the war department committee on training camp activities, will be the honor guest of the Ad Men's club at the first luncheon of the fall, which will be held Thursday noon at the Ansley hotel.

A number of songs, including "Long Boy," the favorite of General Eben Swift, will feature the luncheon.

The luncheon will mark the inauguration of Frank E. Lowenstein as president. Besides a large attendance of Ad men, many members of other civic organizations will be present. Colonel Fred J. Paxon and Jack Carr are arranging the program.

MORE RAINFALL TODAY, WEATHER MAN PREDICTS

The rain which began Sunday afternoon and deluged the entire city for hours Monday morning and afternoon will probably continue Tuesday, according to C. F. von Hermann, of the local weather bureau.

"The rainfall Sunday and Monday afternoon was probably to a depth of one inch," the official forecaster said. "There will be more rain for Atlanta Tuesday, and also for Georgia and Alabama, although there is no marked disturbance anywhere.

"The showers have been general over Georgia and Florida. Northeast winds prevail over the Atlantic states, for the most part with rain. A slight disturbance exists in the east gulf, with the atmospheric pressure slightly below 29.9 inches, while at the same time the pressure is quite high over New England."

The prediction is fair and warmer for the latter part of the week all over the southeast.

LITTLE LOCALS ABOUT THINGS OF CITY INTEREST

Recorder George E. Johnson returned yesterday from a month's vacation and resumed his duties at recorder's court. Judge Johnson's vacation trip was spent in the eastern states with friends and relatives in Washington, Norfolk and Richmond.

Fulton county's inheritance tax, amounting to the sum of $5,047, was yesterday paid to Comptroller General William A. Wright by Lucien Harris, tax collector of the county. The largest single tax was collected from the estate of the late Judge J. H. Lumpkin, amounting to the sum of $2,537.08. This sum represents 1 per cent of the value of the estate.

Malcolm Statham, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Statham, 523 Peachtree street, who was struck early Sunday afternoon by an automobile driven by F. B. Gleason, 71 East Fourteenth street, was yesterday resting easily at the Davis-Fischer sanitarium, where it is reported that his injuries, though painful, are not serious. The accident is said to have been of an unavoidable nature, the child running under the car while playing in front of his home.

The Southern Bank of Savannah yesterday made application for the renewal of its charter to Secretary of State Phil Cook. The bank requests that the charter be renewed for a period of two years.

Lem B. Jackson, director of the state bureau of markets, returned to the duties of his office yesterday after having attended a mass meeting of Texas farmers at Dallas, where they gathered to discuss the present cotton situation.

The hearing of testimony will begin this morning in Judge Ben H. Hill's court in the trial of R. G. Allison, charged with killing Roy Chapman, a negro, last fall. The trial was begun Monday. The shooting occurred in a grocery store, after Allison had ordered the negro to leave. He claims that the negro acted suspiciously, and further, that he shot in self-defense, when the negro picked up a rock and attacked him.

One thousand vacancies in the internal revenue service will be filled by the government by competitive examinations which will be held October 26. The places of examination in Georgia are Athens, Atlanta, Augusta, Columbus, Macon, Savannah and Thomasville.

J. A. Bancroft pleaded guilty Monday to a charge of violating the prohibition law and was sentenced by Judge A. E. Calhoun, of city criminal court, to pay a fine of $150 or serve twelve months in the chaingang. He was arrested for having whisky in his possession.

Will Hogan, a negro, now in Grady hospital, will probably die as a result of a row over some booze. Hogan was shot last Saturday by Wallace Youngblood, another negro. The shooting occurred in a store at Casey Hill, and is said by witnesses to have occurred when Youngblood demanded from Hogan his part of the price of some whisky they had purchased previously. It was stated Monday at the hospital that Hogan would probably die as a result of the shooting.

CAMP GORDON LINE SERVICE EXPECTED TO BEGIN ON FRIDAY

The Georgia Railway and Power company will not be able to start its service to Nancy's crossing, over the Camp Gordon trolley line this morning, as had been announced, but the service will probably start the latter part of the week.

Friday is announced tentatively as the date when this service will begin. It depends largely upon the weather conditions as to whether the track can be sufficiently completed by that day, however.

PURE-BRED SHORTHORNS WILL BE PUT ON BLOCK AT SOUTHEASTERN FAIR

The second annual sale of pure bred Shorthorn cattle will be held at the Southeastern fair grounds Thursday, October 18, when 50 head of cattle will be auctioned.

The consignment will consist of 15 bulls, 35 females and 10 calves which will go with their dams. The cattle have been consigned by P. F. Stallings, of Haddock; T. W. Tift, of Tifton, and other well-known stock raisers.

County Farm Demonstration Agent T. G. Chastain, who has been instrumenetal in bringing about the sale, stated Monday that the auctioning of these cattle would be a rare opportunity for farmers and stock raisers in this district to procure some of the very best Shorthorn breeding stock, both as to individual merit and breeding, at a price not often possible. Full details and information about the sale can be obtained from Mr. Chastain at his office on the ninth floor of the courthouse.

BISHOP LEETE HOME AFTER MAKING AUTO TRIP OF 1,500 MILES

Bishop and Mrs. F. D. Leete and son, F. D. Leete, Jr., arrived Monday evening at their home, 63 Ponce de Leon avenue, after a trip of fifteen hundred miles by automobile from their summer home at Mackinaw City, Michigan.

On their way to Atlanta they stopped at Flint, Mich., where Bishop Leete presided at the Detroit M. E. conference, which was held in that city. They report a splendid trip.

BOYS AT CAMP WHEELER ARE LOOKING SPLENDID, SAYS CLAUDE REGISTER

Claude Register, of the sheriff's office, spent Saturday and Sunday in Macon on a visit to his son, Sergeant Harry E. Register, who is stationed at Camp Wheeler.

Mr. Register says all the boys at Camp Wheeler are in fine shape, and that the hospital is not running.

"It sort of scared me when I read about this ground-glass sausage business," said Mr. Register, "but after I thought it over I quit worrying. I believe that bunch of huskies could stand anything."

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

SYMPTOMS DUE TO EYESTRAIN.

A girl nineteen years of age, employed in a candy store, began to suffer dull persistent headaches. Her friends were there, as usual, with gratuitous advice. They assured her it must be her eyes. She according visited a merchant optician, who examined her eyes, and, sure enough, found astigmatism and other marked abnormalities. He sold her a pair of glasses. The headaches continued and increased in severity. In fact, she began to look badly. So she visited her doctor. He sent her home and to bed, where her typhoid fever ran its regular course in spite of the heroic efforts the optician had made to fight it with glasses.

Practically all of us have astigmatism (irregularities in the shape of the eyeball). Rarely is an eye perfect in its refraction. Yet only a few of us suffer from our defects of vision, just as with loose kidney and ptosed or sagging stomach. One never knows whether his kidney is anchored or bouncing around—unless one happens to have a lowered resistance. (Lowered resistance is mere quibbling, we must admit; we haven't the slightest idea why Smith's resistance is lower than Jones'; we just know that Smith doesn't endure little troubles as well as Jones.)

A gentleman suffered from redness and irritation of the eyes and lids after reading for any length of time. His vision would blur when his eyes were used for close work. He visited a merchant optician who found that the man's eyes were far from normal. Glasses were fitted. No better. Glasses were changed. Still no better. Gentleman decided to consult eye doctor. Eye doctor referred him to nose doctor. Nose doctor drilled a little hole in one of the nasal sinuses, evacuated some matter, and immediately the gentleman's vision ceased to trouble him and his eye regained their natural appearance.

Eyestrain is no child's play. It takes a mighty good oculist to determine whether symptoms are really due to defects of vision.

Headache is a symptom of a great many different troubles. A few cases unquestionably depend upon eyestrain and are relieved or cured by glasses.

A tendency to squint or narrow the eyes, to grimace or twist the face unconsciously when using the eyes, a sense of fatigue and soreness (not headache or pain) in and about the eyes after prolonged use, reddening of eyes and eyelids without apparent cause, sometimes dizziness, and very rarely nausea or other stomach disturbances, are more likely to indicate eyestrain.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

The Right Kind of Underwear.

May I ask what make and weight of underwear you consider most hygienic for the colder season of the year? I think your method of scalp massage is the most effective I have ever tried. Your article on coryza, printed some time ago, was a revelation to me.

ANSWER—I have a purely personal belief that light weight, knitted, all wool or wool, silk lined union suits are the ideal underwear for nine-tenths of us who are indoors and outdoors in cold weather. Wool is a slow conductor of heat. Hence you do not cool off too rapidly. It is not too warm indoors, as thick cotton is. The porosity of the knitted material gives free evaporation and ventilation. It is the nearest imitaion, I think, of the hairy coating we discarded when we rose upon our hind feet some eons ago.

Baby.

My first born is seven weeks old. 1. How many bowel movements should she have each day? 2. Should she be able to see yet? 3. Should her face be covered when going out? 4. How long should she wear her binder?

ANSWER—1. From one to three. 2. She sees, but has hardly learned to focus her eyes yet. 3. Cover the face only from direct sun or wind. 4. The binder should be discarded as soon as the navel requires no further dressing.

CAMP WHEELER "BOYS" GET WEEK-END LEAVE

Saturday-to-Monday Holiday Appreciated by Soldiers. Tent Floors Ordered.

By Frank Craigie.

Camp Wheeler, Ga., September 24.—(Special.)—Announcement of the present policy of the division in granting week-end passes, from noon of Saturday until 8 o'clock Monday morning, was received with enthusiasm by every man in the command—even by those who did not draw a place in the 50 per cent who were granted the privilege this week. There are no restrictions upon the men, except the requirement that they must be neatly dressed when leaving the camp.

The working program of the division began Monday morning at 7 o'clock, with a conference of field officers, which lasted half an hour. Then, at 7:30, the brigades carried out the plan thus determined. The training schedule will keep every able-bodied well man in camp busy until 4:30 in the afternoon.

Camp Vendors Tabooed.

The post exchanges, or canteens, will be closed during the drill periods; and the axe has fallen upon the vicarious vendors of soft drinks and other things. The little negro boy with a dozen "cold dopes" in a bucket has been canned. So has the traveling pie man, and the apple woman in the one-horse chaise.

One more of war's spectacular features has been trimmed out by the division commander—the galloping horse. Of course, in the heat of battle the quicker the get-off and the faster the run the better, but, as far as the green fields of Camp Wheeler are concerned—to say nothing of the red roads and the gray roads—horses may trot in some places and walk along the dusty ways, but gallop never!

A board of officers consisting of Colonel Lytle Brown, Engineers; Major Edward G. Butler, 116th field artillery, and First Lieutenant Lynn Boggs, field artillery, aide-de-camp, have been busy selecting a site for an artillery range. They had examined three sites up to Saturday afternoon, and expect to visit the fourth Monday. The range will be two miles wide and eight miles long. It must be free of human habitations, and will be unhealthy for rambling pedestrians; for the air will hum with every kind of thing that powder can propel from the end of a gun—"specially shrappel, which is bad if it hits a man before it bursts, worse if it hits him after it bursts, but a little bit worse still if he and the burst get together at the same time.

Major Butler, of this board, is well known in Georgia as the major of the late separate battalion of Georgia field artillery. He is a brother Colonel John G. Butler, of the 118th field artillery, lately the 1st Georgia infantry, and has been connected with the Savannah National Guard organizations for eleven years. He is now the adjutant of the 56th Field Artillery brigade, commanded by Brigadier General J. L. Hayden, N. A. General Hayden, by the way, just before assuming command of the division in the absence of Major General Kernan, visited the School of Fire, field artillery, at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, for a conference with the commanding general at that post. Under the present army organization he performs the function of divisional chief of artillery. The corresponding position in the engineers is occupied by Colonel Lytle Brown, divisional chief of engineers.

Locate Georgia Troops.

While the 61st infantry brigade, which includes the major part of the Georgia troops, is a good two miles and more from the "shuttle train" station on the Macon, Dublin and Savannah railway, it is located on the first sector of the camp on the highway side, brigade headquarters and the 121st infantry (Second Georgia) being nearest to Macon, with the 122d infantry (Fifth Georgia) next. The machine gun units and the Alabama and Florida troops flank the Atlanta regiment's "far side."

Troop H, of the First Alabama cavalry, has been designated as headquarters troop of the division. This is for temporary duty. Separate Troop A, of the Georgia cavalry, at present guarding the Augusta arsenal, is slated for this assignment as soon as it is relieved from its present duties.

Announcement was made that the government would furnish floors for all tents in the cantonment. A vast sigh of relief rose from the camp, as thousands of soldiers had been studying frenzied cashing of collateral with a view to buying floors themselves. This provision will add to the comfort and contentment of the troops.

GEN. DUVALL INSPECTS CAMP WHEELER SITE

Macon, Ga., September 24.—(Special.) Major General W. P. Duvall, commander of the deparment of the southeast, who succeeded General Leonard Wood, accompanied by his aide de camp, Captain Richard H. Jordan and Colonel Hugh J. Gallagher, department quartermaster general, made an official inspection of Camp Wheeler today, at the conclusion of which General Duvall declared he was well pleased with the progress of the work on the camp.

Because of the brief time the general was in the city the visit to the camp was given over entirely to the inspection and no review of the troops was held.

The party arrived in Macon at 2:30 o'clock this morning from Savannah, being accompanied by John W. Blount, assistant general passenger agent of the Central. They left the car at 9:30 o'clock this morning and were taken to the camp in automobiles.

Following the inspection General Duvall and Mrs. Duvall and other members of the party were guests at luncheon, returning to the city at 3 o'clock. Two hours later they left for Atlanta, where General Duvall will inspect Camp Gordon.

DEPARTMENT HEAD IN ATLANTA TODAY

ber of commerce, wired General Duvall at Macon Monday, inviting him to be the guest of honor at Tuesday's luncheon, and received a telegram from the military commander from Jonesboro accepting the invitation. In the telegram it was stated that General Duvall would be able to remain in Atlanta but one day, but that he hoped to make another trip to the city soon, when he could remain longer.

Major General Duvall is successor to Major General Wood in command of the department of the southeast, with headquarters at Charleston, S. C. This is his first trip over the department, with the exception of a visit recently to Columbia, S. C. The southeastern department is probably the most important in the country, since within its confines are located the largest number of training camps of any division in the United States.

Guests at Luncheon.

Guests of the luncheon will include Major General William P. Duvall, commander of the department of the southeast, and his party; Major General Eben Swift, commander of Camp Gordon, his staff, and brigade commanders, Brigadier Generals Burnham, Cronin and Erwin; Major Edwin N. Pease, construction quartermaster at the big cantonment; Colonel Van Orsdale, commanding Fort McPherson, and the German prison camp; Colonel Bratton, commander of the base hospital at Fort McPherson; Colonel Murtagh, commander of the medical supply depot, and Major Powers, commander of the quartermaster's supply depot.

Civil officials and prominent citizens who will attend the luncheon include Governor Hugh Dorsey, Mayor Asa G. Candler, officers and directors of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce; Clark Howell, editor of The Constitution; Major John S. Cohen, editor of The Journal; W. G. Bryan, of The Georgian; Postmaster Bolling H. Jones, United States District Attorney Hooper Alexander, Captain James W. English, Colonel R. J. Lowry and others.

Will Visit Other Camps.

General Duvall will visit other camps and cantonments in Tennessee and Alabama, and will return to Charleston via Augusta, where he will visit the camp located there.

Business "picked up" a little bit at the big receiving station at Camp Gordon Monday, and the selectmen arriving for the national army brought the total of the 40-per-cent movement up to approximately 12,000 men. This will leave 3,000 or more yet to come. It is expected that the majority of these will be received within the next few days, although stragglers will be coming in from the various local boards for a week or more before the entire quota of 15,000 is received.

The men who have arrived faced their first "gun" in the national army Monday. This was a rather harmless sort of cannon, however, being nothing more than an ordinary camera. It was fired, though, at the order of General Swift.

The general ordered group pictures made of a number of the organizations of the camp which have just been made up of the draft recruits. These pictures are to be filed and kept for future reference. Pictures will be made again in a month or so, after the men have had training, and will be compared with the pictures now being made to show the improvement produced in the men by the training they will receive at the cantonment.

A Striking Contrast.

These two sets of pictures will present a most striking contrast. The men coming in now, many of them, have seeds indoor work, and are somewhat narrow of chest and sallow of complexion as compared with some of the "old-timers" of the service. The two weeks' training which the 5-per-cent men have already received, though, has done wonders for them.

One of these men met a friend coming in with the 40-per-cent quota the other day, and said, "Say, Bill, feel this." He stuck out an arm with muscles that stood out like ropes and were as hard as rocks. "I got that in two weeks," he said. "I guess old man Samson wouldn't have anything on me, if I stay around here much longer."

Sunday night and Monday gave Camp Gordon its first big rain since the soldiers arrived, and the whole cantonment was slick with mud. Further than that it made traveling on foot or in vehicles somewhat slippery, no great inconvenience was suffered. The lay of the ground of the cantonment is such that it drains readily, and proper drains had already been made for just such an event as Sunday night's downpour. The roads in the cantonment, too, are for the most part in pretty good condition, and will not suffer at all from the rain.

Several special trains came in Monday, bringing selectmen from all over Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee. All of them were quickly put through the regular routine of the receiving station and were assigned to organizations and quarters. And, by the way, Colonel F. S. L. Price and his official "greeters" have now worked the business of receiving down to such a fine point that from 800 to 1,000 men can be received, registered and assigned within an hour. The receiving station with men on duty at all hours will remain open for several days yet until the remainder of the 40-per-cent quota has been received.

New Board Created.

By order of General Swift a new board was created Monday, whose duty it will be to dispose of the cases of members of the officers' reserve corps, when examinations show that they are not suitably qualified for officers. This board consists of Brigadier General Marcus D. Cronin, Lieutenant Colonel John W. Wright and Lieutenant Colonel Charles S. Blakely.

An order from the commander of the American forces in France, posted at Camp Gordon headquarters Monday morning, informs officers assigned for dut yabroad that they should equip themselves with a bedding roll, field cot and personal mess equipment.

Building No. 152, of the Army Y. M. C. A., at Camp Gordon, was dedicated Monday night, addresses being delivered by Mayor Asa G. Candler, of Atlanta; W. W. Alexander, associate general secretary of the Army Y. M. C. A. for the department of the southeast, and Brigadier General W. P. Burnham.

Colonel W. L. Luhn, commander of the military police at Camp Gordon, calls attention to the fact that many civilians apparently are not aware of the visiting hours at the camp. These hours are from 4 to 6 o'clock in the afternoons, except Saturday and Sunday; from noon to 6 p. m. Saturdays, and from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. Sundays. No passes are necessary during these hours. During other hours passes will not be issued except upon business. No woman is allowed in the cantonment without an escort, and no woman is allowed to go through the cantonment on foot.

A number of recruits are being received at Room 508, Post Office building, Atlanta, for the remount station at Camp Gordon. There are a large number of openings for non-commissioned officers with good pay, to which volunteers for the remount station service are eligible to promotion. Out of 298 openings for volunteers, there are 67 openings for non-com places. Clerks, stenographers, blacksmiths, farriers and men qualified for various other pursuits in civilian life are in demand at the remount station.

All the Freaks Are Coming With Circus Next Thursday

MISS DORA MILLELLO
Contortionist with the Barnum & Bailey circus.

When the Barnum & Bailey circus is in town Thursday and Friday you will hear again the cry of the side-show man: "This way, ladies and gemmun. You've only seen one-half of the show—only one-half the Great Barnum & Bailey's three ring, ding-a-ling, blinkety-bling circus. Step out of the sawdust, sonny, and be careful you don't fall into that old gentleman's whiskers. Is that so? Well, if you ever get lost in that hirsute forest it'll take a general alarm and all the police force to find you."

That's some of it; the call of the herald at the door of the side-show tent, bidding you welcome to glimpse the mysteries of the human race. Freaks, the publicity man calls them. Freaks, the language of the showman. But in the language of the freaks they are human prodigies.

Alstair McWilkie's whiskers have grown so that he has to carry them around like a lady's skirt. He steps on them when he walks. Then there's Zip, the "What Is It?" The circus wouldn't be complete without "What Is It?" for he's been with it since the days of Petey Barnum. He's still as big as he was the day he was born, for age has not shrunk him.

Big Jim Tarver, who has taken on a few inches to his eight feet three inches of stature, is again with the circus. And alongside of Jim will be his fairy princess, the Princess Wee Wee, drawn up to the full dignity of her eight inches of height. My! When she gets mad and stamps her foot. Eddie Masher, the dude human skeleton, is with the outfit, but may have to go into training before being permitted to appear here. His careless trainer allowed him to take on a full meal last week and the dude gained two ounces.

Mlle. Clifford, the sword swallower, is in the best of form. She has no tonsilitis or sore throat to interfere with her act.

The Queen of Snakes has new snakes to charm this year. All her snakes died with eye trouble. The doctors told the lady that they were hypnotized by the bright orange wig she used to wear.

There's a lot more of the freaks—human prodigies—but you're going to the circus, anyhow, and you'll see them.

PEACE OR MORE WAR RESTS WITH WILSON

a good deal of moral and political cowardice in the note. There was only one way by which Germany could convince the world of the sincerity of her return to the humanities, and that was by explaining why she desired them and what atonement she meant to offer. That would have been the brave thing to do, but Germany has not done it."

The Guardian considers that the note shows how far the education of the German rulers has progressed in the hard school of facts; if not the principles and language of the note indicates that the rulers have been forced to pay marked deference to the views of the reichstag. The Guardian draws the conclusion that Germany's rulers desire peace with a passionate intensity, declaring, "we must help the German people as far as it is possible for us in their struggle with their government, and concludes:

"But we must beware of rallying the forces of the enemy by language that will help the government to identify itself with the interests of Germany and her people which she so shamefully mismanaged."

TOO MUCH KAISER, SAYS GERMAN EDITOR.

Zurich, Switzerland, September 24.—In its comments on the German reply to Pope Benedict, The Munich Post protests against half of the German answer being devoted to the attitude of Emperor William. The emperor, it points out, is constitutionally only the president of the German confederation and when the note says that the German people stand behind the emperor in the desire for peace it is reversing the situation, as the people stand before the emperor.

It is not a matter of indifference, either, continues The Post, that the person of the emperor should be pushed to the foreground. "We all know very well his declarations on the peace question," it says, "but we also know that during the twenty-eight years of his reign he made utterances extremely disconcerting to foreign nations, and thanks to the small cleverness shown in the composition of this part of the note, it is tolerably certain that the foreign governments will dwell upon these utterances."

The Post deplores the fact that a number of men in high and royal positions have begun an agitation against peace and that instead of being energetically disavowed by the highest quarters they have been thanked for their attitude. "But," adds the newspaper, "we can be calm despite all the war-lusting dukes, grand admirals, burgomasters, privy councillors, ferocious professors and other colleagues of Count von Reventlow. The coming peace cannot be much longer delayed."

CAMP M'CLELLAN BOYS HAVE HOME COMFORTS

Anniston, Ala., September 24.—(Special.)—The knowledge that every tent in Camp McClellan is to be equipped with electric lights, a stove and a pine floor has created a feeling of satisfaction among the officers and men that nothing else could have done unless it were the hoped-for order to start across seas.

While there was no general complaint from the men before they learned of the order, many of them felt unsettled and seemed to be unable to adapt themselves to conditions at the camp. Others were beginning to find that the nights in the northeast Alabama hills can be uncomfortably cool.

So far the men have had very little time to play. Following their arrival and the pitching of tents there was more or less policing of the grounds, building of company streets, grading and stump-pulling. They had no sooner finished this work then they commenced the drills and exercises prescribed by the war college. These drills consume eight hours a day except on Wednesdays and Saturdays, when the men who are proficient in their classes are permitted to remain at liberty from dinner time until taps.

Now that the men are well settled in the camp and working on a regular schedule, they are planning to amuse themselves on the diamond and gridiron. There are hundreds of college men in the various regiments, some of whom starred last year in intercollegiate games, playing with Princeton, Georgetown and Johns Hopkins. The Foedick commission has sent B. V. Ogle to the camp as director of athletics. Mr. Ogle is now engaged in making a canvass of the regiments for suitable timber for baseball, football and basketball, and stated today that he believes he will be able to pick an all-star football team that will be able to face anything in the country this fall.

NATIONAL GUARD UNITS BEING CONSOLIDATED

Military Necessity Is Governing Reorganization, Says Secretary Baker.

Washington, September 24.—Military necessity will govern the consolidation of national guard units under the reorganization plans of the army, although wherever it is possible the troops from each state will be kept together. Secretary Baker announced this policy today in connection with protests, particularly from members of the Missouri delegation in congress against the consolidation of Missouri and Kansas troops in one regiment.

Mr. Baker said that several similar protests had been received. He added that in each case the papers had been forwarded to the commander of the division to which the troops involved were assigned, with instructions to observe the wishes of the state representatives as far as possible, but always with the understanding that military efficiency was the primary object to be served. In no case, it was indicated, will a change be made in the plans of the divisional commanders except where that efficiency will not be impaired.

There are some guard regiments with years of traditions behind them, and special efforts will be made to preserve these organizations. They will be used as the framework for expansions, it was indicated, newer regiments which are merged into them losing their identity. The Richmond Light Infantry Blues battalion is regarded as an example in this category, Mr. Baker explained.

The war secretary called attention to an interesting situation at Camp Mills, where the Forty-second or "rainbow" national guard division which he reviewed yesterday, is mobilized. There are two old national guard regiments in that division, he said, one from a southern state and one from the north. Both have long records of service behind them, including hard fighting in the civil war. They are now camped together and compose one of the infantry brigades of the Forty-second division. The last time they met was at the Battle of Cold Harbor during the war between the states.

Commenting on the work done by the railroads in connection with the mobilization, Mr. Baker said figures now available show that since early in August, when large troop movements began, the roads have transported 502,000 soldiers to various points without any serious derangement.

Steady Loss of Submarines.

(From The New York World.)

Now that a good many submarines are being sunk without any trace, the feeling seems to be growing in Germany that there is something wrong with the system.

Must you stop work to scratch?

Resinol

That itching, burning skin-trouble which keeps you scratching and digging, is a source of disgust to others, as well as of torment to you. Why don't you get rid of it by using Resinol Ointment? Physicians have prescribed it for many years. In most cases, it stops itching instantly and heals eruptions promptly. It is very easy and economical to use. Acts even more promptly if aided by Resinol Soap.

Resinol Ointment is so nearly flesh-colored that it can be used on exposed surfaces without attracting undue attention. Contains nothing that could irritate the tenderest skin. It comes in two sizes (50c and $1), never in bulk.

HARD WORKOUT FOR THE JACKETS

Management Announces a Change in Accommodations—No Side Line Seats or Autos to Be on Field.

Notwithstanding the bad weather yesterday afternoon, the Tech squad was put through one of the hardest work-outs of the season thus far. Yesterday's practice gave the players their first opportunity this year of handling a wet ball.

The coaches are not taking the two games Saturday with Furman and Wake Forrest lightly at all and fully realize that they must not only win both games, but what is more important, keep their men in good trim for the strenuous game with University of Pennsylvania on the Saturday following.

The men will not be put through any very hard scrimmages during the present week for fear of their reaching their top form too soon and going stale in the last few games of the season. Last year's team was at the zenith of its strength during the November games, but the schedule of a year ago contained no such early season foe as the caliber of the Penn team.

Several new men were out for the first time yesterday and it is expected that many more will be added to the squad during the present week. Taking the new men as a whole they look as good as any set of first-year candidates at Tech for some seasons back.

The present season is the first in many years that this time of year has not found the fence surrounding the football field in place. Due to the students having to use the athletic field for drilling purposes every day a stationary fence would have been in the way, so the authorities have under consideration a plan for a movable fence, one that can be set up for the games and removed for the drilling.

Contrary to usual custom, there will neither be any side line seats nor will automobiles be allowed inside the park. With the extra big crowds that are sure to attend the games this fall it was deemed best to utilize all possible space for seating purposes.

Doping the World's Series

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON

NO. 3--SECOND BASEMEN

	Offensive Value.	Defensive Value.	Total Value.
Chicago	915	492	1407
New York	865	514	1379

By Hugh Fullerton.

Chicago gains a large lead over the New York Giants in the comparative dope on the second basemen for the coming world's series. The comparison of these two men is one of the most interesting I ever have made, for the reason that they represent as totally different types of ball player as we can find. Were it not for the fact that Herzog's physical condition at present detracts from his figure values, we could find a player who is batting only about 225, ranking close to, and perhaps above Eddie Collins, who has been hailed by many as the greatest of second basemen. It is unfortunate that we are compelled to deduct from Herzog's value because of his injured back and his recent collapse on the ball field, else we would have a straight issue as to whether the nervy, brainy, aggressive daredevil type of player who is all nerve and courage, is better for purposes of a world's series than one of the greatest fielding, batting and base-running machines the game ever has known.

You may put it down in the blank book that Eddie Collins is not as great a player today in the minds either of players or of the experts as he was rated when he was with Mack's championship teams. He has played sloppy, careless, and, at times, seemingly indifferent baseball all season until the last month when he suddenly got into action and has been going at his top speed in almost every department. With his return to form, the White Sox's final winning streak started. Herzog, on the other hand, has been playing wonderful ball, aggressive, fighting, hustling and winning baseball, all season until he kicked at a piece of chewing gum, slipped and injured his back. It may be that the world's series will be decided by that slip. It is a cinch Herzog will not be at his best in the series, and that McGraw may be compelled to use his understudy in part of the games. He will not, if Herzog is able to crawl out of bed, for he would play on crutches to help his team.

Collins can outhit, outrun, outfield and outthrow his Giant rival. He has more speed, he possesses everything in a physical sense that is needed, yet in such a series as this the player of the Herzog type is liable to be more valuable. Collins almost certainly will outhit him.

Collins Not Hitting.

Herzog is not hitting even as well as he usually does. He is down in the two-twenty class now, while Collins, although he has ceased to be a .300 hitter since he joined the White Sox, still is much better, and is always around .280, which, considering the White Sox, is remarkable. During the belated White Sox rush to safety, he improved immensely in batting, as well as in the other departments of the game.

Collins has (as we in Chicago have discovered) two grave faults, faults that do not belong on a world's championship team. He has played safety first baseball during the greater part of the year and has protected himself at the expense of several victories. He does not take the chances when those chances involve possible injury of himself. He evidently realizes the value of such high class live stock. While this may be commendable, from the standpoint of the player, it hardly is approved by lovers of the game, and perhaps no man in baseball comes nearer being the antithesis of the safety first player than Collins' rival in the series. If there is an opportunity to break his neck and win a ball game, Herzog will take that chance. He will risk every bone in his body to win, and the greater the situation, the more depending upon a play, the greater he becomes as a ball player. During the last quarter of a century, I have seen many ball players who rose, with gritted teeth and fought for a game with all their nerve and courage, but I never have seen an exhibition such as Herzog gave in the series between the Giants and Boston Red Sox. In that series, he, by his desperate efforts, came near turning the dope upside down. It was sheer nerve, courage and determination and, while his back may be weak and his condition not the best, his nerve still is unimpaired.

It will be interesting to watch the men during the coming series and contrast their methods. Conceding Collins every advantage from a mechanical standpoint, it need not surprise anyone, if Herzog is a greater hero when it is over.

Another Collins Fault.

Collins has one more bad trick, and one which checks his team greatly because it most frequently affects the weakest spot on the White Sox, which is right field. With all his experience, Collins still has a habit of claiming fly balls hit to right field and failing between his position and the right fielders. Time and again this season he has claimed such balls, and then, after stopping the right fielder, he has quit on the ball himself and allowed it to fall safe. An inspection of my records this season shows six such instances. If such a thing should happen during the coming series the effect might be disastrous.

Both these men are world's series veterans. Collins has played in all the Athletic series, and he has shown the same kind of ball in the big affair that he does during the regular season. With his brilliant execution and perfect form, he can be relied upon as a steady and reliable defensive player. His hitting ought not to be great in this series. It is a cinch that McGraw will aim his pitchers to stop Collins and Jackson more than any of the others of the White Sox, and I believe that both Schupp and Sallee will turn this trick to a large extent. Collins hits the southpaws fairly well, better by far than most left-handed batters do, but, in a world's series, with the details carefully worked out in advance, with each pitcher instructed and coached to the limit as to every man, the best natural batters are under a handicap.

As we shall see later, it is a hard job for any manager to figure a pitcher to stop all the White Sox. This team has both a right and left-handed punch, and the pitcher who stops one wrecking crew must face the other.

Herzog Rated High.

Study for a time the records of Herzog this season. He is far below Collins in number of hits and in percentage. Yet, playing in many fewer games and hitting far below him, stealing fewer bases and seemingly mechanically inferior in attack, Herzog has scored almost as many runs as has the Chicago star. He is one of the best run-getters in the business, and, once on first, he is resourceful, clever, and he gets around some way.

I have been compelled to discount Herzog's value largely on the reports of his condition. It is being announced that he is "all right," but the reports indicate that he is not completely recovered from his collapse, and that his injured back is still giving him trouble. He has been given opportunity to rest it and get it into shape, and it is to be hoped that he will be right when he goes to second base.

For another thing, Herzog is not naturally a second baseman. He has acquired a certain knack and proficiency in playing on that side of the diamond, but his natural place is on the other half, where he handles balls faster and gets them away quicker. However, his playing at second this season has been satisfactory.

It seems to be a case of the impassive, Connie Mack style of ball player, performing his work without emotion and with the preciseness of a machine, pitted against a fiery, fighting, nervy fellow of less mechanical ability. It is going to be interesting to see which carries off the honors.

Tomorrow we will tackle the shortstops. I have just completed the figures on these, and they are somewhat of a surprise. They surprised me, when I added up. How about you?

Ruddy and South to Fight at Columbia Next Friday Night

Charley South and Kid Ruddy will furnish the main event of ten rounds at the Columbia theater Friday night, according to announcement made by "Happy" Joe Trent, who is now aiding Mike Saul in arranging the weekly fistic contests at the local playhouse.

The bout will also be staged on a "winner-take-all" basis in case the scrap ends in a knock-out before the tenth round is reached. South was also forced to put up a forfeit for appearance.

Besides the main bout there will be two four-round scraps on the card, making eighteen rounds of boxing in all. Mike Saul, as usual, will referee.

SERIES ORDERS POUR IN.

Chicago Office Swamped With Orders for Tickets.

Chicago, September 24.—Nearly 1,200 special delivery letters requesting reservation for the world's series were received on Sunday at the American league park here. The regular mail containing orders for the seats has almost swamped the office of Harry Grabiner, secretary of the Chicago club, and early today he made arrangements to enlarge his force of clerks. The work of constructing several thousand additional seats for the world's series was well under way today and according to the plans the park will have a seating capacity of 33,000 before the opening game, October 6.

Phillies Cancel Draft.

Cincinnati, September 24.—The national baseball commission announced here this afternoon that the Philadelphia National league club had cancelled its draft on Player Fillingim, of Indianapolis.

ELBERFELD WILL NOT MANAGE CHATTANOOGA

Has Several Offers From Other Clubs in Southern League.

Chattanooga, Tenn., September 24.—Norman (Kid) Elberfeld announced tonight that he would not accept the management of the Chattanooga Southern association club next year. Elberfeld says that he has several offers from other clubs in the league, and it is reported that he may find a berth with New Orleans, as it is said Johnny Dobbs expects to resign the managerial berth in the Crescent City. It is expected that a manager for the Chattanooga club will be considered at a meeting to be held this week.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Giants Cinch Pennant.

St. Louis, September 24.—New York clinched the National league pennant by winning today's game from St. Louis 2 to 1. Doak held the champions to four hits, but these came when hits were needed and Doak lost.

New York scored in the first inning when Kauff walked and tallied on Zimmerman's two-base hit. In the sixth Robertson and Kauff singled, Zimmerman sacrificed and Fletcher walked, filling the bases. Wilhoit batted for James Smith and forced Robertson at the plate, but Holke singled and Kauff scored.

The locals bunched three singles off Sallee in the seventh, which with an infield out gave them their lone run.

Score by innings:	R.	H.	E.
New York .....100 001 000—2	4	0
St. Louis .....000 000 100—1	7	0

Batteries—Sallee and McCarty; Doak, Horstman, Snyder and Gonzales.

Phillies 2, Pirates 0.

Pittsburg, September 24.—Philadelphia continued its unbroken series of victories by winning from Pittsburg today 2 to 0, but was eliminated entirely as a contender for the National league championship through the victory of New York over St. Louis.

Bender was effective with men on bases and kept Pittsburg hits scattered. He also figured in both the runs made by his team. He singled in the third inning, went to second on a wild pitch, third on an out and scored on a sacrifice fly by Stock. In the ninth inning Luderus doubled to right, went to third on a hit by Evers and tallied on Bender's second hit.

Score by innings:	R.	H.	E.
Philadelphia .....001 000 001—2	7	1
Pittsburg .....000 000 000—0	7	1

Batteries—Bender and Killifer; Jacobs, Carlson and Schmidt.

Reds and Braves Tie.

Cincinnati, September 24.—Cincinnati and Boston played twelve innings to a 2 to 2 tie today, darkness calling a halt to the game, which was a fine pitching duel between the veteran Rudolph and Eller. Mitchell started the game for Cincinnati, but lasted less than an inning. The first two Boston batters up singled, then Mitchell walked the next two, forcing a run. Eller then took up the burden, and retired the side with only one more run scoring, that tallying on a long sacrifice fly by Smith. For the remainder of the game Eller pitched masterful ball and never was really in danger of being scored on. He struck out ten batters. Rudolph also pitched great ball, having but one bad inning when the Reds touched him up for three hits and two runs, tying the score in the fourth inning:

Score by Innings:	R.	H.	E.
Boston ..... 200 000 000 000—2	9	1
Cincinnati .... 000 200 000 000—2	10	0

Batteries—Rudolph and Tragesser, Meyers; Mitchell, Eller and Wingo.

Cubs 4, Dodgers 2.

Chicago, September 24.—Charley Deal's triple in the eighth inning gave Chicago a 4-to-2 victory over Brooklyn today. The locals bunched five hits in the final rally and Deal's hit topped it off by sending two runners across the plate after the score had been tied.

Score by innings:	R.	H.	E.
Brooklyn ..... 100 100 000—2	6	1
Chicago ..... 000 000 04x—4	9	0

Batteries — Smith and Krueger; Vaughn, Hendrix and Elliott, Dilhoefer.

HERMAN WILL MEET FRANKIE BURNS IN NOVEMBER IN N. O.

New Orleans, September 24.—Pete Herman, world's bantamweight champion, shortly after the federal district appeal granted him a further extension until November 25 to report for military service under selective draft, late today signed articles with a local promoter for a 20-round bout here November 12 in which he will defend his title with Frankie Burns of Jersey City. Burns previously had agreed to the match.

Herman will receive $6,000 for his end, win, lose or draw.

Herman also has been offered $6,000 to meet Kid Williams, former champion in Baltimore.

WHERE THEY PLAY TODAY

National League.

Boston in Cincinnati; Brooklyn in Chicago. New York in St. Louis; Phila. in Pittsburg.

American League.

Chicago in Washington; St. Louis in Phila. Detroit in New York; Cleveland in Boston.

Senators Draft Gibson.

Bainbridge, Ga., September 24.—(Special.)—Pitcher A. T. Gibson, of the Bainbridge club in the Dixie league, was drafted by the Washington club of the American league. Gibson, who lives at McColl, S. C., won ten games and lost five, a much better percentage than his club accumulated. He was regarded by many as the best right-hander in the league.

Jackson Exempted.

Greenville, S. C., September 24.—The local exemption board has granted exemption to Joe Jackson, formerly of Greenville, now member of the team of the Chicago Americans, on the ground of dependent wife. The local board's action, of course, is to be reviewed by the district board.

STARS OF THE WORLD'S SERIES

By W. R. Hoefer

EDWARD T. COLLINS. (Chicago White Sox.)

Wise old Connie Mack is responsible for starting Eddie Collins on his brilliant big league career. Back in 1906 he heard that Columbia University had a second baseman who was as much like the average college player as Walter Johnson is like a Texas League pitcher.

They called him "the wondre" at Columbia because of his speed, flashy fielding and batting punch. Mack signed Collins to a Philadelphia contract while Eddie was still a student and the latter played under the alias "Sullivan."

He was the star college player of 1904-5. In 1906 and 1907 he held down the bench for the Athletics, learning big league ways and forgetting a lot of college baseball. In 1908 Eddie jumped into the Athletics' line-up, playing second and third base and shortstop, hitting .273 in 102 games and stealing 8 bases.

It was in 1909 that Collins flashed forth as a brilliant star and practically made the Athletics' infield. Playing second base he massaged the horsehide for a .346 average, stole 67 bases and covered all the ground the law allows. Since his first year as an Athletic regular Collins has never hit below .308 and in 1911 he had the astounding average of .365 for 132 games.

Columbia Eddie is probably the most brilliant second baseman who ever slammed the pill on a runner going into second. He has shown brilliancy in every world series he has played in with the famous Athletics and is a brainy, self-confident player. They used to call him "Cocky Collins" around the circuit because of his superb self-confidence.

In speed and batting ability he stands head and shoulders above every second baseman in years. His superiority this season, as far as averages go, hasn't been so pronounced, as he has hit below .300 most of the year, but there is still quite a gap between "Cocky" Eddie and the next highest second baseman as far as physical ability goes.

Eddie was born in Millerton, N. Y., May 2, 1887, is 5 feet 9 inches tall, and weighs 165 pounds.

He lacks the personality and aggressiveness of Herzog, and is rather colorless, as most of the famous old Athletic infield were, but he is the class of the second baseman today, nevertheless. The White Sox have a whale of a player in this Collins—and his World Series experience and brain work should prove a big factor in this series.

CHARLES L. HERZOG. (New York Giants.)

You can't tell by its size how hard a mule can kick, and you can't tell what "Buck" Herzog will do in a World Series by his season's percentage.

That's because Herzog is the ginger-jar of the diamond. He has personality plus, the old pep simply oozes out of him and his middle name is "scrap." Don't rely on the dope in figuring Herzy for the Series Mix. He has a bad habit of kicking the percentage figures through the roof in a crisis and rising to an emergency like a hungry hobo rises to the call for dinner.

This was proven in 1912 World Series against the Boston Red Sox. Herzog had hit only .263 that year over the season's play, yet he was one of the dominant factors in prolonging the series to 8 games and almost copping it for the luckless Giants.

He weighs only 160 lbs., "soaking wet," as the boxers say, and is about 5 feet 10 inches tall, yet he challenged Cobb, who outweighed him 30 lbs., to a bare knuckle fight last spring and gave Tyrus quite a lot of trouble.

Herzog is the winning type of player. He is a whirlwind fielder, fast on the bases and by his aggressiveness and personality raises the efficiency of any club he is with at least 10 per cent. He has a keen baseball brain, a fine pair of fielding hands and although this season he has tickled the pill around only .230, is always a bad guy in a pinch.

"Buck" is 32 years old, being born in Baltimore, Md., July 9, 1885, and is a college man. He was a star at Maryland University and in 1906 played semi-pro ball for Ridgley, Md. He started his "pro" career in the Tri-State League with Reading and went to the Giants in 1908, was traded to the Boston Nationals in 1910, secured again by the Giants in 1911 and went to Cincinnati Reds in 1914 as manager. He came back to New York in 1916 in the deal that sent Matty to Cincinnati as manager.

Charley came to the Giants in 1908 with a minor league batting mark of only .204, but McGraw saw him in action, took one slant at the cut of his jaw and his aggressive map and knew he wanted him. Herzog has played every infield position but first base, but his real job is at the keystone sack. He is the ideal type to captain a ball club.

In physical playing ability Collins has it over Herzog by a big margin. He is a better sticker, more flashy fielder and lots faster on the bases. Herzog, however, has a wonderful personality, is full of fire and always plays better in a crisis than at other times.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Ruth Blanks White Sox.

Boston, September 24.—Ruth, of Boston, shut out Chicago today, 1 to 0, turning back the new American league champions when they came within scoring distance. Russell tried out his arm for four innings and then gave way to Williams, another southpaw, whom Rowland may use in the world's series. Neither Chicago pitcher was hit hard, but five of Boston's seven hits were involved in scoring its three runs. With two out in the first, Gainer walked and scored on Lewis' double to right. Cooney's single and Gainer's double in the third sent over the second run. The last Boston score came in the sixth off Williams, when Gainer singled, Lewis sacrificed, Gainer scoring on Walker's single to center.

A single and two bases on balls in the Chicago ninth filled the bases with two out, but J. Collins, who had already made two doubles and a single, was easily thrown out by Cooney.

Indians 5, Athletics 4.

Philadelphia, September 24.—Cleveland won today's game here, 5 to 4, and ran its winning streak to ten straight. The game was devoid of features except for Chapman's base running, he stealing three bases and bringing in his first run by stealing home.

Tigers Split Even.

Washington, September 24.—Detroit split even with Washington here today in its final appearance of the season, winning the first game, 8 to 3, and losing the second, 2 to 0. The visitors bunched hits on Ayers and Waldbauer, a recruit, in the opening contest, but in the second game Shaw held them hitless until the ninth innning. In the first contest Cobb made four hits and a sacrifice in five times at bat, stole four bases and scored two runs.

Unknown Shoots Hole In Glass Above Door Of Atlanta Drug Store

Considerable excitement was created last night at about 6 o'clock, on Mitchell street, when some unknown person shot a large hole in the glass above the door of Benjamin's Pharmacy, at 21 West Mitchell street. Many persons in the neighborhood heard the shot, and a hole about the size of a dollar was shortly after discovered in the glass above the door. No arrests were made and no cause has been attributed to the shooting. The police are investigating.

MARGUERITE CLARK PROVES DELIGHTFUL IN NEW PRODUCTION

That the Rialto theater has made a ten-strike in booking Marguerite Clark in "The Sub-Deb," was amply proven yesterday by the behaviour of the audiences at all performances. People apparently didn't care who knew they were laughing. There was none of the half-hearted giggling, but when a man or woman near the first row laughed, people could hear him or her, as it happened to be, in all parts of the house.

The production is the picturization of the "sub-deb" stories of Mary Roberts Rinehart, which have been running in The Saturday Evening Post, and the combination of admirers of the author and of the movie star sufficed to bring out a most representative attendance.

There are many scenes of rare comedy, which were sufficient to amuse even the hardest to please. Especially did the ladies appear interested when the "sub-deb," with her prettiest frock on, dives into a tub of water, and then plays dead.

The picture will be seen at the Rialto all this week, with performances from 11 to 11.

GUATEMALA STOPS PRO-GERMAN PAPER

Guatemala City, Guatemala, September 24.—The German daily newspaper Eco Aleman, published in Spanish, which has been active in its hostility to the entente, has been suppressed.

Disease Is Mankind's Greatest Enemy; Be Prepared to Withstand Its Attack.

The Slightest Impurity in the Blood Is Dangerous.

The very air you breathe and the water you drink are both laden with enemies of health. There is absolutely no way to avoid their attack, because the enemy is invisible.

But you can be so prepared as to render their attacks harmless. You can keep your system in such perfect condition that the disease germs cannot find permanent lodgment, but are thrown off entirely.

The first thing necessary is to get your blood absolutely free from all impurities. Keep it thoroughly cleansed, and you need have no fear of catarrh, rheumatism, eczema, scrofula, or the numerous other ailments which come from impure blood.

In order to be absolutely sure that your blood is in condition to ward off disease, it is wise to take a few bottles of S. S. S., the most satisfactory blood remedy known to science. For more than fifty years this remedy has been used with excellent results, and it is today recognized as the best blood purifier and system builder you can take. It is sold by druggists everywhere. To get results, however, be sure and get the genuine S. S. S.

GEORGIA TECH OPENS WITH BIG ATTENDANCE

Despite Loss of Many Students to Government, All Records Will Be Broken.

The formal opening of the twenty-ninth session of the Georgia School of Technology took place Monday with exercises in Tech auditorium. The largest freshman class in the history of the institution has matriculated.

Despite the loss of many students who are now in the service of the government, Tech's enrollment this year has exceeded that of last year and all previous years. The total enrollment for this year is expected to reach 1,000, exceeding that of last year by 200 students.

Additional class rooms were added during the summer in order that there might be no difficulty in properly caring for the large number of students expected. Various new features also have been inaugurated in the dormitories, chief among them, from the students' point of view, being the improvement of the culinary department.

No changes in the curriculum have taken place, the courses being the same as in the past.

$400,000,000 OFFERED IN U. S. CERTIFICATES

Notes Short Time and Bear 4 Per Cent Interest—Books Close October 2.

Washington, September 24.—The fourth series of short-time treasury certificates of indebtedness issued in anticipation of the second Liberty bond issue was offered to the public today by the treasury department. The issue, $400,000,000, is larger than any yet offered by the department, and bears interest at a higher rate, 4 per cent, as authorized in the war credits law signed today. Previous issues have not borne higher than 3½ per cent interest.

The total of certificates in advance of the second Liberty bond issue now amounts to $1,250,000,000.

Like those of the preceding offering, the new certificates will be convertible into Liberty bonds at par and will be exempt from all income taxation except the surtax on incomes of more than $5,000.

The treasury department reserves the right to redeem the entire $400,000,000 issue at par and accrued interest upon ten days' notice at any date. The subscription books will remain open from tomorrow until October 2, and the certificates will mature December 15 next.

The offering will be placed through the federal reserve banks, and is open not only to bankers but to the general public. Certificates will be issued in denominations of $1,000, $10,000 and $100,000.

40 CENTS A POUND PAID FOR LONG STAPLE BALE

Clarksville, Texas, September 24.—One bale of long staple cotton was sold by B. G. Lewis, a farmer, today for 40 cents a pound. The claim is made here that this is the highest price ever paid for cotton in Texas.

GLASS IN SAUSAGE NOT "GERMAN PLOT"

Packing House Employee With a Grouch Is Held Responsible.

Macon, Ga., September 24.—(Special.) That a disgruntled employee was responsible for the presence of glass in links of sausage served to the members of the headquarters company of the 121st infantry at Camp Wheeler Saturday night, is the belief expressed by the agent of a local packing house from which the company purchased the meat.

The sausage came from Jacksonville and was part of the regular supply received by a local packing house. The idea of a "German plot" is now discounted, since it has become known that the person who put the glass in the sausage could not possibly have had knowledge that it was intended for the soldiers. The meat used at the camp is not purchased for the whole camp, but each company buys its own supplies from whatever source it desires.

It was stated today that an investigation is being made by the packers to determine, if possible, the identity of the guilty person.

Today the regimental surgeons lined up the members of the headquarters company who ate some of the sausage and examined them. It was found that, so far, none of them has suffered any serious results, due probably to the fact that immediate treatment was given the men when the presence of the glass was discovered.

$30,000 Damage Suit Caused by the Death Of Senator McCurry

Mrs. Lizzie May McCurry has filed suit for $30,000 in the city court against Clinton Parker and J. H. May, for damages caused by the death of her husband, Senator Asben A. McCurry, of Hartwell, who died on July 15 last, after having been struck by May's automobile, which was driven by Parker.

The complaint sets out that Senator McCurry was crossing West Peachtree street, near Mills street, to board an approaching street car, when the automobile struck him.

It is charged that the machine was violating the automobile laws in that it was exceeding the speed limit, running too close to the curb, and failed to give any signal of approach. It is also alleged that the chauffeur had no license to operate an automobile under the state law.

THE COMPLEXION COMES FROM WITHIN THE BODY

To maintain a good complexion, or to regain a lost complexion, it is necessary to eliminate all wastes of the body regularly—constipation causes a bad complexion—pimples, sallowness. Inactive liver results in constipation—a clogging of the entire system and the poisons that are daily generated in the system, instead of being eliminated are absorbed, resulting in bilious headache, listlessness, sallowness, bad complexion and eczema.

Take an effervescent glass of JACOBS' LIVER SALT and see how quickly the liver responds and by its action removing the undigested food from the stomach, flushing the bowels, cleansing the blood, and reviving the entire system, so that the motley complexion, the coated tongue, the yellow tinted eyes will all be changed.

JACOBS' LIVER SALT will keep the blood free of impurities by removing the impure food from the bowels. It will stimulate the liver to its natural activities. Better health will ensue. Gentle in action, is effervescent, and therefore pleasant to take; has no "after" effect. Sold by druggists, or sent direct. 35 and 75 cents.

NEW PRICE-FIXING SENDS STOCKS UP

Government Rates on Iron and Steel, and Gold Export Embargo, Cause More Active Trading.

New York, September 24.—Publication of the government's schedule for iron and steel, which came in the latter part of the session, and announcement of a virtual embargo on gold exports to Spain, were the striking incidents of a moderately active day in the stock exchange.

There was at first some divergence of opinion regarding the fairness of prices fixed by the Washington authorities, but the course of the market in the later dealings, when almost all classes of industrials showed extreme gains of 1 to 3 points, was indicative of general satisfaction.

The movements of United States Steel, which occupied its usual commanding position, was typical of other steel and allied shares. That stock ranged between 109⅜ to 110⅞ prior to the news from Washington, but soon thereafter rose to 112½, closing at 112⅜, a net gain of two points.

All the more representative equipments, metals, shippings and semi-war stocks were equally responsive, and rails, which had shown marked irregularity, also strengthened. High-grade specialties, tobaccos excepted, shared in the higher quotations of the last hour when short covering was most extensive.

Call money continued in fair supply at 4 per cent, but time loans were higher, even for prime collateral. From the west came advices of greater confidence in general trade conditions, and a marked increase in railway tonnage.

Bonds were irregular, with further heaviness in industrials, United States Steel 5s breaking 1½ per cent. Liberty 3½s moved in the narrow range of 99.98 to 100.02. Total sales, par value, aggregated $3,425,000.

United States bonds (old issues) were unchanged on call.

Sugar.

New York, September 24.—The market for raw sugar continues quiet, awaiting further developments at Washington. Prices were nominally unchanged at 5⅞c for Cubas, cost and freight, equal to 6.90 for centrifugal and 6.02 for molasses.

The demand for refined was pretty active and prices were unchanged at 8.40 to 8.50 for fine granulated. Withdrawals on old order were also good.

Coffee.

New York, September 24.—Covering by September shorts caused an advance of six points in that delivery at the opening of the market for coffee futures this morning, but the demand seemed to be supplied around 7.33 for the near month, and prices sagged off later. The opening was one point higher to two points lower on October and later deliveries, with December selling off from 7.45 to 7.42 and March 7.67 to 7.63 during the afternoon, scattered offerings, which seemed to come chiefly from trade sources. The market closed 1 to 5 points net lower. Sales, 26,500. September, 7.27; October, 7.24; December, 7.41; January, 7.48; March, 7.64; May, 7.79; July, 7.95.

Spot coffee dull; Rio sevens, 8⅝; Santos fours, 9⅞. Cost and freight offers were reported about unchanged. Sales were reported of Santos fours at 9c late on Saturday with bids of 9.15 accepted today for Santos threes and fours, London credits.

The official cables reported a decline of 75 reis in Rio with Santos spots unchanged and futures unchanged to 25 reis lower.

Santos reported clearings of 61,000 bags for New York, Rio echange, 1-32d lower. Brazilian port receipts, 66,000; Jundiahy receipts, 42,000.

Metals.

New York, September 24.—The metal exchange quotes lead steady; spot, 8.00; spelter barely steady; spot, East St. Louis delivery, $8.12@8.37.

At London: Lead, spot, £37 10s; futures, £29 10s; spelter, spot, £54; futures, £50.

Copper, electrolytic, nominally, $23.50. Iron nominal. Metal exchange quotes tin nominal, $61.50 bid.

At London: Spot copper, £110; futures, £110; electrolytic, £130; spot tin, £247 10s; futures, £244 15s.

Dry Goods.

New York, September 24.—Cotton goods were firmer and more active today after the recovery in cotton markets. Yarns were firmer. Raw silk was steady; wool goods quiet.

SHARP ADVANCE IN ALL GRAIN MARKETS

Corn Touches High Level on Strength of Maximum Price Removal Talk—Oats Go Higher.

Chicago, September 24.—Knowledge that the directors of the Chicago Board of Trade would tomorrow set a date for a conference with other exchanges relative to a possible removal of maximum prices on corn had considerable to do with a sharp advance which took place today in the corn market.

Quotations closed strong at the topmost point reached, with net gains of 2⅝ to 2⅞ at $1.20⅝ to $1.20¾, December, and $1.17⅝ to $1.17¾ May. Oats finished ¼@⅜ to 2c up, and provisions at a rise of 22 to 80.

The chief factor at first in the corn pit was a prospect of unwelcome showers and of colder weather conditions distinctly adverse to the speedy maturing of the crop. Unusual lightness of offerings tended further to incite buyers, and then gradually attention focused on chances of the present high limit on prices being altered soon.

Oats reflected the strength of corn. Demand for immediate delivery was brisk, especially on the part of houses with eastern connections.

Provisions soared to new high price records and closed at virtually the topmost of the day. The principal impetus came from hog scarcity, big shipments of meats, advances at Liverpool and the bulge in corn.

New York, September 24.—The cotton market was extremely nervous and excited today with sensationally violent fluctuations. A break of about 68 to 82 points from the opening prices occurred during the middle of the day, with December selling off from 23.40 to 23.58.

This was followed by an extraordinarily rapid rally of 92 to 114 points, which carried December up to 24.60, and that delivery closed at 24.05, with the general list closing irregular, net 2 points higher to 27 points lower. October was relatively firm during the entire day on covering and trade buying in anticipation that few notices would be issued on the first notice day tomorrow.

The market opened irregular at a decline of 4 points to an advance of 9 points. There was a good deal of realizing after the big advance of last week, also some selling for a reaction which was encouraged by rumors of higher marine war risks, which suggested a check in exports, and talk of an easier spot basis in the southwest.

After selling at 24.55 early, October broke to 23.85 during the middle of the day, while January sold off from 24.28 to 23.58, or about 62 to 66 points under Saturday's closing figures.

Bullish sentiment was stimulated, however, by a Memphis report placing the condition of the crop at 59.8, against 67.2 last month, also by prospects for showers or rains in the eastern belt, which would delay the movement, and reports of a tropical disturbance moving northwestward with a low barometer off the Carolina coast.

These features brought in a good deal of buying at the decline, while the strength of October increased the nervousness of shorts with that delivery selling up to 24.99 or 114 points from the early low and 49 points net higher. January touched 24.50, the close showing reactions of about half a cent from the best under heavy realizing.

NEW ORLEANS MARKET ACTIVE AND PRICES FLUCTUATE WIDELY

New Orleans, September 24.—Extremely wide and nervous fluctuations marked the trading in cotton here today, the market during the session going both above and below the level of Saturday's close and moving over an extreme range of 92 to 110 points, but closing at a net rise of only 3 points to a net decline of 11 points. Some of the slumps and rises, amounting at times to 75 and 80 points, occurred in only a few minutes. There was heavy trading in several periods, and the market suspended readily to both buying and selling orders.

Around the opening active months were 25 to 28 points up, from which level there was a fall to a net decline of 54 to 66 points. In the early afternoon the market moved up to a net advance of 37 to 50 points, but later lost all of the gain.

The selling in the early trading was stimulated by reports of higher marine insurance rates, and later seemed to come almost entirely from profit-takers on the long side. The main bullish influences were the tropical storm apparently headed for the Gulf of Mexico and the disturbance which caused the storm warning for the south Atlantic coast. Aiding them were spot accounts telling of a good demand in the interior at higher prices and predictions of a bullish condition from the government next week. A private condition report came out during the day and indicated a falling off of 7.4 points.

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON COTTON SITUATION

New York, September 24.—(Special.)—Today's cotton market was nervous and irregular and fluctuated in an erratic manner. New highs were made, but the advance was not sustained and for the first time in over a week today's market showed evidence of liquidation at times of strength. We believe that sales made on rallies should prove profitable, as the technical position has been weakened by short covering and purchases for long account. The oil market advanced further today, but our opinion remains unchanged.
JOHNSTON, STORM & CO.

New York, September 24.—(Special.)—Today's market was more of a two-sided affair. Recent buyers sold early, creating a decline which attracted buying for both trade interests and the south. Around 24.50 for December there seems to be considerable cotton for sale. The feature of today's trading was the strength of October. Tomorrow being first notice day for that month, parties who had previously sold October contracts were transferring them to later positions. Southern spot markets officially were higher. Exports today were 20,256 bales.
J. W. JAY & CO.

New York, September 24.—(Special.)—Today's market was another active one, with violent fluctuations apparently not due to the covering of any other short interest, but to the buying of new outside traders absorbing the hedge selling from the south and Europe which was a marked feature of the market until the afternoon, then this deman from outside traders carried the market up to a new high level based on reports that the planters were holding back their cotton throughout the south and refusing to sell upon this rumor the outside traders felt that the spinners' brokers might have the same difficulty in filling the last of the September commitments and those of early October, as they did during the last fortnight. The long interest was largely increased today by taking the hedges against spots.

WILL PROBE FINDING OF GLASS IN SAUSAGE

P. H. Methvin, state food inspector, will leave today for Camp Wheeler to investigate the alleged finding of ground glass in the sausage supplied to a unit of the old Fifth Georgia regiment. The investigation is to be made at the request of C. L. Williams, surgeon of the public health department, located at the camp. In connection with this trip Mr. Methvin will make a thorough inspection of the food and sanitary conditions of Camp Wheeler, and he will put into effect the same restrictions now practiced at Camp Gordon.

Sale of Timber Lands and Other Unallotted Lands and Surface of Segregated Coal and Asphalt Lands Belonging to the Choctaw and Chickasaw Indian Tribes in Eastern Oklahoma by the United States Government

There will be offered for sale at public auction at certain railroad points in eastern Oklahoma, from October 15th, 1917, to October 31st, 1917, inclusive, approximately 400,800 acres of timber land, 50,200 acres of the surface of the segregated coal and asphalt land, and 500 acres of other unallotted land, all belonging to the Choctaw and Chickasaw Indian Nations in Oklahoma. The surface of the segregated coal and asphalt lands classified as suitable for townsite purposes, and the timber lands, will be offered for sale for not less than the appraised value. Land and timber will be sold together. The entire estate in the tribal timber lands and other unallotted lands will be sold except, however, that of the segregated coal and asphalt land area only the surface will be sold, the coal and asphalt therein or thereunder being reserved to the Choctaw and Chickasaw Nations, except where the descriptive circular specifically states that the coal and asphalt will be sold with the surface. The tribal land will be offered in various-sized tracts, but no person will be permitted to purchase more than 160 acres classified as agricultural land nor more than 640 acres classified as grazing land. No limitation is placed on the acreage of timber land which may be purchased by one person. Residence on land not required. Bids may be submitted in person, or by agent with power of attorney, or by mail. Terms of sale of surface of segregated coal and asphalt lands, classified as agricultural or grazing lands, shall be cash, the successful bidder being required to pay 25 per cent of purchase price at time of sale and the balance within 15 days thereafter, or in case the successful bidder submitted his bid by mail, said balance must be paid within 15 days from date of notice. Terms of sale of surface of segregated coal and asphalt lands, classified as suitable for townsite purposes, shall be 25 per cent cash at time of sale, 25 per cent within one year, and balance within two years from date of sale. Terms of sale of tribal timber lands and other unallotted lands shall be 25 per cent cash at time of sale and balance in three equal annual installments of 25 per cent each, payable in one, two and three years, respectively, from date of sale, the purchasers of any of the above mentioned lands to pay 5 per cent interest per annum on all deferred payments. Bids by mail must be accompanied by certified checks or bank drafts for 25 per cent of the amount of bids. Where houses or other improvements are located on the timber lands, or on the surface of the segregated coal and asphalt lands, the same will be sold with the timber land or the surface of the segregated coal and asphalt land as the case may be, said improvements to be paid for in full at time of sale, and except in case of the improvements within the segregated coal and asphalt area classified as agricultural or grazing land, shall not be sold for less than the appraised value. The right to reject any and all bids is reserved. Detailed information in regard to dates, places, conditions and terms of sale, and including lists or circulars descriptive of the lands to be offered for sale, may be obtained free of cost from Mr. Gabe E. Parker, Superintendent for the Five Civilized Tribes, Muskogee, Oklahoma. Maps and plats may also be obtained from said Superintendent at a cost of from 25 cents to 50 cents each.

CONVICTS RESUME WORK ON THE HOLLYWOOD ROAD

Peachtree Road Improvement to Begin Soon as Possible, Says Dr. Gilbert.

The entire convict force of Bellwood camp, sixty men, has been ordered back to work on the paving of Hollywood road, and will resume work there at once.

The Hollywood job, among others, was interrupted owing to the fact that the convicts working there had to be placed on the digging of the ditch for the water main to Camp Gordon. The work of refilling the ditch after the laying of the main has just been completed.

Following the finishing up of this job, which has taken so many of the convicts from other work, the county public works will get back to other jobs that have been waiting.

Work on Peachtree road will begin as soon as possible, according to Chairman Dr. W. L. Gilbert. This has been the situation for several months, owing to the inability of the county to get certain materials necessary to the work. The shortage of cars occasioned by the establishment of Camp Gordon is said to be responsible for the delay.

HUSBAND POPULAR WITH THE LADIES, WIFE TELLS COURT

John B. West is popular with the ladies, according to testimony Monday upon the hearing of an alimony suit brought against him by his wife, Mrs. Fay T. West.

Mrs. West testified that she saw her husband out with three women at one time. Besides this alleged offense, she declared that he struck her several times, and knocked down their 18-year-old son because he stayed out until 10 o'clock at night.

"My children and I have been absolutely destitute," testified Mrs. West, "although my husband draws a salary of $200 a month. On the day of the fire, May 21, my husband came out to our home on North Boulevard, where I was trying to save some of our clothes, and cursed me, threatening to have me arrested."

Mrs. West has filed suit for divorce against her husband and Judge George L. Bell began Monday hearing testimony on her application for temporary alimony pending hearing of the divorce suit. The alimony hearing will probably be concluded Tuesday.

Mrs. Sallie Dawkins was awarded a total divorce from John Dawkins, by a jury in Judge Pendleton's division of superior court. A first verdict was returned in favor of Mrs. Annie Gay against James Gay.

Other verdicts awarded were: Dr. J. M. Pierce, from Mrs. Susan B. Pierce, first verdict; Mrs. Maud G. Masters, from Ernest Masters, second verdict; G. E. Messic, from Mrs. Elsie Messic, first verdict.

SAYS HE BIT OFF TONGUE TO GET RID OF BIG BUG

After having bitten off half his tongue in a down-town soda fount and released from the Grady hospital Monday morning, Simpkins Savage, said to be a civil engineer of Philadelphia, yesterday was arraigned before Recorder Johnson and fined $16. Upon paying the fine, he returned to the court room and began flirting with a woman, and was promptly locked up again.

Savage's actions in the down-town store, in which he bit off his tongue lead the police to believe that he is insane. He stated to Recorder Johnson that he chewed off his tongue because of the fact that a big bug had gained such a grip on it that he was unable to remove the insect without biting off his tongue.

HUNDREDS HEAR MRS. HARRIS GIVE HER TESTIMONY

Gained Thirty-Five Pounds on Tanlac and Has Been Entirely Restored to Health Since Taking It, She Says.

"I am not only a strong, healthy woman instead of a nervous wreck like I was before taking Tanlac, but I have actually gained thirty-five pounds in weight besides," is the remarkable statement made a few days ago by Mrs. Emma Harris, whose husband carries on a local transfer business and who resides at 5811 Reiger street, Dallas, Texas.

"My health had been gradually failing for several months," she continued, "I had so little appetite that I just had to force down every mouthful I ate and I fell off till I weighed hardly more than one hundred pounds. My blood was bad and I was tormented by boils and eruptions all over my body and suffered agonies from rheumatism that made my bones ache like they would break in two. My nerves were in such a wretched state it was simply impossible for me to get any sleep. Nobody could tell me what the matter was and I felt so down-hearted and hopeless that I just gave up and took to my bed.

"One day a friend told me about Tanlac and advised me to try it. I sent for a bottle and by the time I had used up half of it my appetite returned and I was soon up and about and able to take up my housework again. I eat anything I want now, my food gives me strength, my blood has cleared up, my rheumatism is gone and I suffer no pains, I sleep like a child and feel fresh and fine when I wake up. I believe I have told fully four hundred people in person about my recovery and if anybody wants to ask me anything else about my experience with Tanlac, they can call me over my phone, Haskell 1863."

Tanlac is sold in Atlanta exclusively by Jacobs' Pharmacy.—(adv.)

GEORGIA RAILWAY AND POWER CO.,
By P. S. ARKWRIGHT, President.

450 GERMAN SAILORS TO ARRIVE NEXT WEEK

Enemy Aliens Will Be Confined at McPherson and the Civilians at Oglethorpe.

Arrangements are being made at Fort McPherson to receive 450 more German prisoners, who are expected to arrive early next week from Fort Oglethorpe.

Orders have been received at Fort Oglethorpe for the transfer of these prisoners with a view of converting Fort McPherson into an internment station for enemy aliens solely, while the prison barracks at Fort Oglethorpe will be used for civilian offenders.

Some twenty-five or thirty civilians now held at Fort McPherson will be transferred to Fort Oglethorpe.

Colonel Andrus, who has been in command of the prison camp at Fort Oglethorpe, will be transferred to Fort Thomas, Ky., while Colonel Penrose, at Fort Thomas, will succeed Colonel Andrus at Fort Oglethorpe.

It is understood that Colonel Van Orsdale, in command of the prison camp at Fort McPherson, will retain that assignment.

SOLDIERS "QUIT" CAMP, FEARING FRANCE ORDER

Leave Macon When They Hear Rumor Regiment Is to Go Abroad.

Washington, Ga., September 24.—(Special.)—Two soldiers attached to the First Florida infantry, now encamped at Camp Wheeler, were arrested here today and are being held pending the arrival of army officers from Macon. They admit having left camp "without leave" last Wednesday, when it became rumored about the camp that the regiment was to be sent to France.

The men gave their names at A. W. Wise and R. R. Watson, both of Jacksonville, Fla. They came here Sunday and declared they had walked the entire distance from Camp Wheeler. They had been here but a few hours when they took possession of an automobile and started toward Elberton. They got but a short distance out of town when the car was "ditched." They were arrested on a disorderly conduct charge and officers ot Camp Wheeler were notified.

The soldiers later declared they liked army life, but were determined to see their parents before they started "for France."

NEARLY $8,000,000,000 IN DEFICIENCY MEASURE

Washington, September 24.—Increased to about eight billion dollars, the urgent deficiency bill, said to be the largest appropriation measure ever presented in any nation, was favorably reported to the senate today by the appropriations committee. Senator Martin gave notice that it would be called up tomorrow. Speedy passage was forecast by leaders.

The committee added $779,600,000 to the bill as it passed the house last week, most of the increase being for the army and navy. As revised, the bill totals $7,992,364,000, including actual appropriations of $5,606,906,000 and additional authorizations of $2,385,458,000.

A new clause added by the senate committee to the house item of $6,000,000 for registration and selection of the men for the national army under the draft act would limit expenditures to the one million men now authorized by law.

In approving the house appropriations of $225,000,000 for construction of torpedo boat destroyers, the committee inserted a clause authorizing the president to take over land, buildings and other facilities that may be required.

CORN BEING BOUGHT FOR BELGIAN RELIEF

Baltimore, Md., September 24.—The government has been in the local grain market for some days buying corn for Belgian relief, it became known today. George S. Jackson, vice president of the government food administration board, said the board had sent out a cargo of wheat for Belgian relief and that he has a ship ready to be loaded with corn for the same purpose. Local grain merchants were surprised that the government should have undertaken this deal in corn when it is selling above $2 a bushel and no prices have been fixed.

A report that the food administration board was buying all the corn in the elevators here was denied by Mr. Jackson.

FUNERAL OF RATHER WILL BE HELD TODAY

Funeral services of G. A. Rather, who died Monday morning at his home, 5 Garden street, as the result of injuries received when he was struck by an automobile driven by Elbert Crozier, of Chattanooga, Tenn., on August 29, will be held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon from the chapel of A. O. & Roy Donehoo, Rev. Thomas H. Johnston, of St. Philip's cathedral, officiating. Interment will be in West View.

Mr. Rather is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Rather; two brothers, J. C. and L. N. Rather, and one sister, Mrs. W. S. Easterling.

Following the accident Crozier was arrested, but was later released on a $500 bond. He will be notified to return to Atlanta for a hearing, which is expected to take place this week.

TRUCK AT FIVE POINTS KNOCKS DOWN 3 WOMEN

A dairy truck driven by G. H. Parker, of East Lake, yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock ran into a crowd of pedestrians at Edgewood avenue and Peachtree street, knocking down three women and running over Miss Leila Hardigrave, of 38 Jones avenue, and slightly injuring her. She was taken to Grady hospital, where it is stated that no bones were broken and only bruises and scratches were sustained. None of the other women were injured.

Parker was taken to police station and later released on a light bond. He stated that the truck skidded when he applied the brakes upon seeing the young lady, and that she was knocked down by the fender.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

The Church of the Epiphany, at the junction of Euclid and Moreland avenues, Inman Park, will erect a Sunday school addition to its present plant.

A building permit for this work was issued Monday, the estimated cost of the addition being placed at $2,500.

Mrs. O. B. Stevens took a permit to erect a one-story brick bungalow in the fire district, at 304 East Linden street, at a cost of $4,500.

Rosser & Brandon took a permit to make alterations and repairs to their building at the corner of Hunter and Forsyth streets.

SCOTTDALE LADY'S ATLANTA EXPERIENCE

It's the Same Old Story Everybody Tells of a Saving on Dental Work by Going to the Right Place.

When Miss Carrie L. Morgan, of Scottdale, Ga., came to Atlanta last year to have her teeth treated, she very fortunately went to the One Price Dental Office, 104½ Whitehall St., corner of Mitchell. About six months later she wrote: "I am highly pleased with the dental work you did for me. You crowned and bridged two teeth for me about six months ago, which work has proven entirely satisfactory. I can safely say that you have saved me at least one-third on the work, and am pleased to recommend you to my friends." Most everybody in Atlanta knows of the One Price Dental Office. Year after year it has grown increasingly popular because of the high class of dental work and the surprisingly low prices. Best gold crowns, $3; bridge work, $3 per tooth; finest set of teeth money can buy, $5. All work guaranteed ten years.—(adv.)

WHAT IS A TRADING STATEMENT?

It should be designed to show the Gross Profits on trading. That is, the excess of the amount charged for goods sold over their purchase price, together with any expenses attendant on their acquisition. A grocery firm, for instance, prepares a Trading Statement at the end of the year to show what it has made or lost by selling goods. In preparing such a statement the services of a Certified Public Accountant are valuable in locating leaks and tightening loose joints.

STREET CAR CHIEFS NAMED IN KILLING

Coroner's Jury Names Chattanooga Trolley Officials as Accessories to Shooting of Labor Unionist.

Chattanooga, September 24.—As the result of the killing of William Massengale, a brewery worker, during the riot during the parade of union organization sand sympathizers with the striking street car men Sunday afternoon, Sam O. Welch, United States commissioner at Athens, Tenn., was charged with the shooting, and Vice President F. W. Hoover and Superintendent J. R. Anderson, of the Chattanooga Railway and Light company, were named as accessories, by the coroner's jury here tonight.

Welch was arrested last night charged with the murder of Massengale, and is out on $10,000 bond. Hoover and Anderson were expected to be placed under formal arrest sometime tonight. The finding of the coroner's jury, connecting the street car officials with the affair, was evidently based on the theory that they had ordered the rescue car, from which the shot that killed Massengale was fired, to go to the scene of rioting. Welch's hearing is set for Wednesday.

Troops Seize Riot Guns.

While martial law has not been declared, Colonel Pickering, at Fort Oglethorpe, has taken cognizance of the threatening situation and ordered additional troops sent to the city to protect property and maintain order. Riot guns at the police headquarters were removed at noon today by soldiers in order, it is declared, to prevent their falling into the hands of rioters, and this led to a general rumor that martial law had been declared.

The funeral of Massengale will occur at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon under auspices of the Central Labor union, and it is reported tonight that all union men in the city will quit work to attend.

"FRIENDS OF PEACE" GOT GERMAN MONEY

Chicago, September 24.—J. J. Tobias, chancellor of the Chicago Law school, once leader of the Friends of Peace, an organization at one time active in furthering peace talk, told today of having received an offer of $30,000 to work for an embargo on munitions and to influence sentiment in this country in favor of peace with Germany. The offer, he said, came from a man calling himself E. J. Thyme, a banker from Stockholm, Sweden.

The $2,400 with which the convention of the Friends of Peace, September 6, 1915, was financed, also was raised by twenty-five local Germans and German-Americans, according to Dr. Tobias, and the money which supplied funds for the organization's mail propaganda came from the German committee in New York, he said.

Mr. Tobias said he became suspicious and withdrew from activity in the organization when he was convinced it was becoming pro-German.

AMUSEMENTS

Loew Vaudeville.

(At the Grand.)

A sleek brown seal and his Eskimo trainer present a novelty act which is the best number of a decidedly good bill at Loew's Grand theater.

The seal refused to perform at the matinee performance because the drop curtain representing a scene in northern waters failed to arrive on time. But Monday night he was full of "pep," feeling quite at home, and did some stunts with the spinning ball and the slack rope which are uncanny in their perfection. In addition to his juggling talents, the seal is musically inclined and renders "My Contry, 'Tis of Thee," if not quite exactly, with decided credit to a citizen of the frozen north.

Another splendid juggling feature is offered by Vincent and Maxine, who do some really good feats with such difficult properties as lighted cigars and hot soft-boiled eggs.

Elizabeth Cutty plays the violin—simply and pleasingly, without any attempts to air her technique. She plays for the masses rather than the classes, and makes a big hit with her listeners. She sings a little, too, and handles a mediocre voice so well that its quality is overlooked. Miss Cutty is a member of the famous Cutty family who have appeared in Atlanta on many occasions in musical sketches. The group has now split up into singles and doubles.

In a short skit Jack Walters and Dorothy Moore spill a lot of funny mother-in-law stuff which is quite entertaining and full of surprises—for son-in-law.

Mack and Lee present "Milk and Melody." There is plenty of milk, but very little melody. The pair sing two or three songs and get off some dialogue which is without point and not at all funny. However, Mattie Lee is very good looking and they get away with their act very neatly.

"The Woman Beneath," a World film play, featuring Ethel Clayton, depicts a drama of New York society, wherein a giddy girl discovers that she has a heart and loves her husband.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Lyric.)

If the class of attractions offered at the Lyric theater yesterday for the first three days of this week is to be continued during the winter months, Atlanta theatergoers are certain to get the value of their money, and to be perfectly satisfied with their lot.

Nearly every act is an old Forsyth act, seen here before. Atlanta has never forgotten and never could forget such an eccentric pair as Jack Donahue and Alice Marion Stewart. Donahue's dancing kept the house in uproarous laughter, and Alice Stewart's funny sayings were none the less funny because they had been heard here before. So long did the applause for this act continue at its close that it was with difficulty that the next act got under way.

Amanda Gray, with two singing boys, is back to delight lovers of good music with her magnificent voice. She is one of those wholesome sort of girls who just makes her audience fall in love with her the minute she appears on the stage, singing, with "her boys," the telephone song, "Hello." Her stage charm, coupled with a voice far above the average, makes her act the kind that an Atlanta audience always enjoys.

The Werner and Amoros trio, in "Love's Follies," present a novelty surprise that is both entertaining and unexpected.

Lew and Mollie Hunting give a song, dance and comedy turn, an offering which is above the average.

Brent Hayes shows marked ability as a banjo player.

It is the best show yet given since the Keith attractions were switched from the Forsyth to the Lyric theater.

TILLOU FORBES.

"Cheating Cheaters."

(At the Atlanta.)

After a sensational run of a solid year at the Eltinge theater, New York, "Cheating Cheaters" will be presented at the Atlanta theater next Friday night for an engagement of two nights and Saturday matinee, under the managerial direction of A. H. Woods. The name of Woods needs no introduction to playgoers of Atlanta. He has been sponsor of such notable successes at "Within the Law," "Potash and Perlmutter," "Common Clay," "The Girl From Rector's" and a host of others. "Cheating Cheaters" is one of the most successful of his many hits. It is best described as a farce melodrama in four acts by Max Marcin, author of "The House of Glass." It deals in a satirical way with the machinations of two sets of "crooks," who, in the guise of respectability, pit their wits against each other. They calculate everything to a nicety except the unforseen and mysterious element that makes "Cheating Cheaters" as engrossing and surprising a play as has been seen in many years. The notable cast includes F. J. Williams, Augusta Perry, Bertina Robison and others. Seats are now on sale.

Big Double Bill.

(At the Vaudette.)

Despite the rainy weather the Vaudette theater did a most satisfactory business yesterday when a great double bill was offered. Dustin Farnum is appearing in "North of 53," his big picture under the direction of Williaam Fox, while Madame Petrova is presented in "Silent Sellers," another production which is decidedly worth while. The double attraction gave Atlanta theater-goers a wonderful entertainment, and as a result even larger audiences are expected today, the last opportunity to see these two stars. For Wednesday and Thursday another double bill will be offered when Julia Sanderson will be seen in "The Runaway" and the great Vitagraph feature will be shown "For France." For Friday and Ssturday William Russell, master screen artist, is coming in "Sands of Sacrifice."

"Baby Mine."

(At the Strand.)

The artisticaly finished production of Margaret Mayo's farce, "Baby Mine," in which Madge Kennedy, the great little comedienne, is making her first appearance as a screen star at the Strand all week, is the net result of four months of prodigious effort. Thus are motion pictures made to conform to the Goldwyn standard. "Baby Mine," which was such a big success on the stage, had to undergo many changes and be greatly elaborated for motion picture production. The picture unfolds many scenes that were merely hinted at and left to the imigination in the play. All the action that was supposed to take place outside the apartment in the play is, of course, actually shown in the picture. In addition some new scenes were added.

Pauline Frederick.

(At the Odeon.)

"If you'll marry this baron we've found for you, I'll get you a new motor," or words to that effect was what Vivian Tyler's father said to her in "Her Better Self," a Famous Players-Paramount picture starring Pauline Frederick on the Paramount program. A story of the change effected in a frivolous daughter of wealthy parents by the strong character of the man she loved, lightened with touches of humor. What would you do were you offered a motor to marry a baron? Doubtless just what Vivian did, which you will see for yourself at the Odeon theater today.

Warner, in "God's Man," Scores Success at Criterion Theater

Those who remember H. D. Warner's wonderful stage portrayal in the name part of "Alias Jimmy Valentine," in which he toured the United States for five years with tremendous success, and his later screen appearance in "Shell 43," know that any part in his hands is most capably presented. Such is the case at the Criterion theater this week, where he is shown in "God's Man," a brilliant story of New York's fascinating underworld, written for the screen by George Bronson Howard, and produced by the Frohman Amusement company.

The star is cast as Arnold L'Hommedieu, and it is from this name, which originates from the time of the Crusaders, and which, in the original title, was Le Homme De Dieu, the equivalent for "The Man of God," that the author has derived the title "God's Man." The story is an odd one, and differs somewhat from any other ever seen here. It holds interest from the very start, and numerous effective "punches." Besides the stellar portrayal given by Mr. Warner, which is a splendid one, the support has evidently been selected with great care and wisely, too. For in the parts taken by Walter Heirs and Jack Sherrill, both of whom have recently visited Atlanta in person, nothing more could be asked than the manner in which they carry their characters.

The story is one dealing with the trials and vicissitudes met with by young Arnold L'Hommedieu in his ever prevalent desire to aid his fellowman, and the resultant disgrace and degradation which come to him. Beginning with his expulsion from college, he is dragged through the business whirl of New York, the night life, the tango parlors, the cafes; into the smuggling of deadly drugs, and down until he is at the bottom of the pit of despair. Then, guided by the teachers of an old hermit philosopher, he is lifted back to the lanes of decency and to the dawn of the light of righteousness. God's light, to the ultimate finding of happiness and the love of a true woman.

BANKERS ARE URGED TO ASSIST FARMERS

Agriculture in Relation to War Discussed at Atlantic City.

Atlantic City, N. J., September 24.—Agriculture in its relation to the war and the part bankers should play in aiding America to feed its allies were the chief topics today before the preliminary sessions of the American Bankers' association. The general convention will open tomorrow.

The feature today was a meeting of the agricultural commission, at which the food problem in its relation to finance was discussed by several speakers. Declaring that food will win the war, G. H. Powell, a representative of Herbert C. Hoover, said the food administration is going to proceed upon the assumption that the food problem can be worked out "not through drastic law, but through the patriotic co-operation of producers and consumers and all other agencies." "This country," he added, "is going to make every endeavor to avoid one of Great Britain's mistakes, the attempting to regulate the food situation through hard and fast rules."

Bradford Knapp, in charge of department of agriculture demonstration work in the south, told the bankers he was greatly disturbed over conditions in that section surrounding the marketing of the crop. "One thing," he said, 'i's absolutely essential if we are to do our duty for the world in this crisis and that is a satisfied body of farmers. If they are not satisfied we are not going to get the productions we are going to need next year. I am informed that new corn in Florida went on the market at $1 a bushel when corn elsewhere brought $2. Now they are saying that corn does not pay in Florida. I am sorry to say that the average farmer is not a good business man. Somebody must help him. I know of cases where banks took charge of entire shipments for their communities, collected the money and distributed it to the farmers without collecting a penny for the service. This is the right spirit."

CONGRESS COMMITTEE ON WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Washington, September 24.—Creation of a committee on woman suffrage was ordered by the house late today by a vote of 181 to 107.

The ways and means committee will name the personnel of the new committee, which will assume charge of all suffrage bills, now handled by the strongly anti-suffrage judiciary committee. Either Representative Baker, of California, or Representative Taylor, of Colorado, will be made chairman. Miss Rankin, of Montana, has been suggested but as she is a republican, she is not likely to be named.

Creation of the committee for which the suffragists long have contended assures an early fight on the Susan B. Anthony suffrage amendment at the next session of congress. Both suffragists and anti-suffragists say they are anxious that the bill be reported, as they are confident of victory on the floor.

The antis, headed by Chairman Webb, of the judiciary committee, made a hard fight today against the resolution. They maintained that its adoption would be taken as an indorsement of white house picketing and that it was unnecessary inasmuch as the judiciary committee planned to report the amendment resolution early in the next session.

Miss Rankin and Representative Pou, chairman of the rules committee, who reported the resolution, made the principal speeches for it. Mr. Pou declared that President Wilson had written him urging the naming of the committee and when Mr. Webb said he did not think the president ever made such a statement Mr. Pou produced the letter. It was not read.

The senate suffrage committee, which is inactive, has been organized several years.

While the house was voting four of the woman party's so-called pickets were arrested for displaying banners before the white house. They were released on bond to appear tomorrow.

Hotel Clerk Found Dead.

Valdosta, Ga., September 24.—(Special.)—W. M. Lewis, day clerk at the Hotel Patterson, was found dead in bed this morning. He had been ill and under the care of a physician for several days, but his condition was not regarded as serious. He came here last May from Columbus.

Cotton Crop Hard Hit.

Thomasville, Ga., September 24.—(Special.)—The ginners' report from Thomas county shows that up to September 8, there were 2,650 bales of cotton ginned in the county, as against 6,166 for the same date last year. This would indicate that less than half a crop will be produced this season, as already much of the cotton has been picked.

Building Potato Warehouse.

Valdosta, Ga., September 24.—(Special.)—A potato curing warehouse, with a capacity of 5,000 bushels, is being erected at Hahira. It will be the first plant of the kind in this county. The building is to take care of the present crop of sweet potatoes, and will be ready for operation by the time the crop is harvested. It is being constructed on plans recommended by the federal government.

AMERICAN INDUSTRY MUST PUSH WAR WORK

War Board Orders More Intense Concentration—Luxuries to Suffer.

Washington, September 24.—More intense concentration of American industry on war work was foreshadowed tonight in an order issued by the priority committee of the war industries board directing that in all cases preference in orders for iron and steel and their products be given to concerns turning out materials actually necessary for the war's conduct.

Through its power to control transportation, the priority committee will exercise a general supervision over the placing of contracts for the government, the allies and the public, issuing certificates on which orders may be filled. Similar control over other industries may be assumed later.

Twenty-five thousand copies of the order were sent today to manufacturing plants throughout the country, requesting them to observe the committee's regulations. In event they are not observed, the committee will exercise its full authority and hold up railroad shipments wherever necessary.

Manufacturers of articles classed as luxuries will be the first to feel the law's operation, and as the government's requirements grow, non-essential industries using iron and steel may be eliminated entirely. The order was signed by Robert S. Lovett, as chairman of the committee, with the approval of the secretaries of war and the navy.

All production in the country which consumes iron and steel will be divided into three classes. Class A will comprise war work, such as the production of arms, ammunition and ships; Class B will comprise work which will not primarily be designed for the prosecution of the war, still of public interest and essential to the national welfare; Class C will comprise all orders not included in the other two, and for this work no certificates will be issued.

Orders and work in Class A will take precedence irrespective of the date the orders are given. Both Classes A and B will be divided into subdivisions as A1, A2, A3, A4, etc., each comprising orders within its class which are regarded respectively of greater moment. All materials required in the manufacture of an article will be classed with the article itself.

War orders of the allies will be placed in Class A, as will those of the United States. Contracts already placed by the war or navy departments or by the emergency fleet corporation will be placed in subdivision A1; orders already placed by the allies will be put in A2.

Applications for Class A certificates will be made by the contracting officer of the United States department making the purchase, and in the case of the allies by their agents. Applications for subsidiary certificates covering materials for Class A work will be made by the producer. Applications for Class B certificates will be made by purchasers, as will subsidiary certificates in Class B.

ROPER IS CONFIRMED REVENUE COMMISSIONER

Washington, September 24.—Daniel C. Roper, of South Carolina, was confirmed today by the senate to be commissioner of internal revenue. The senate also approved appointment of J. H. Moyle, of Salt Lake City, as assistant secretary of the treasury to succeed Byron R. Newton, whose confirmation as collector of customs at New York was postponed.

Policeman Hurt in Smash-Up.

Macon, Ga., September 24.—Motorcycle Officer L. S. McLendon, of the local police department, is in a critical condition as the result of an accident sustained when he was pursuing a speeding taxicab driven by Harry Lamis. Just as the officer's machine caught up with the car, the driven of the latter attempted to turn the corner. A collision resulted and McLendon was thrown and badly hurt.
